Revenue Service checking records

The former Madison County Deputies Association sometimes grossed $60,000 to $70,000 a year through benefit solicitations but cleared only $5,000 or $6,000 for charitable projects, a deputy has told the Press-Record. The organization no longer exists.

A federal investigation of deputies' activities is in progress, sheriff department spokesmen have said.

Word of the investigation was originally disclosed by the Press-Record.

"We decided to have an audit, and a bookkeeping firm helped us make a set of books," the deputy related to this newspaper.

"We were receiving letters from the state threatening to take away our charter because we had not filed a statement with them.

"While we had the books there, I was approached by an agent of the Internal Revenue Service who met with me and identified himself.

"He said they were conducting an investigation into Madison County and would like to look into our books.

"I got ahold of another man and told him what was happening. I said, 'Let's bring it out ourselves if something is wrong.'

"We went to the bookkeeper and he asked where the agent

New GC industry awaited

Discussions of a proposal to establish a major metals industry here are under way between Granite City officials and representatives of the firm, it was learned by the Press-Record today.

The plan involves the construction of a metals processing plant and warehousing facilities for Vincent Metals Co., which now operates a plant in St. Louis.

The firm distributes such metals as steel, stainless steel, brass and aluminum to specifications of its customers for manufacturing purposes.

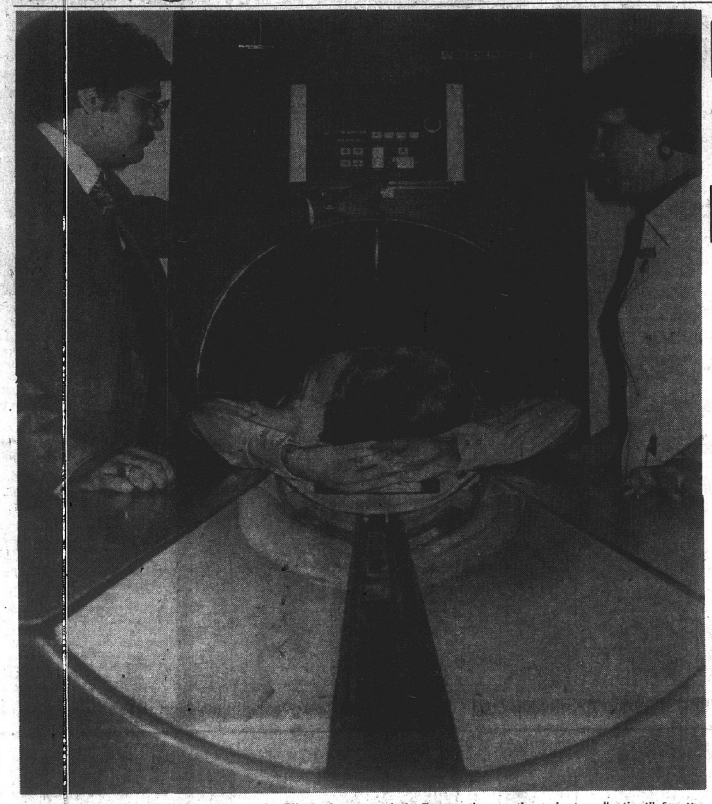

Mayor Paul Schuler and City Engineer Monroe Brewer confirmed that they have been meeting with representatives of the firm to discuss the availability of power, drainage and other services vital to development of the plan.

The company has acquired an

Hospital bond issue okayed by city 10-3

By HARRY BARNES
Press-Record Staff Writer

An ordinance authorizing the sale of $28.5 million in revenue bonds to aid St. Elizabeth Hospital in its expansion program was enacted by the Granite City Council Tuesday night—but without any votes to spare.

The bill was approved by a 10 to 3 vote, with a minimum of 10 votes needed to suspend the rules to place the matter at final passage stage.

The bond sale was opposed by three new members of the City Council after lengthy discussion in which two of those aldermen objected to the revenue bond issue because, they said, there was a "chance" of responsibility by the city to make the bonds good "if anything happened to the hospital."

By enactment of the ordinance—also by a 10 to 3 vote after the rules suspension was sustained—the council also approved a trust indenture, a mortgage and security agreement, and a purchase contract by which the bonds have been sold by John Nuveen & Co., Inc., a Chicago bonding firm.

Leo Konzen, an attorney and hospital board member representing the hospital, told the aldermen that the bonding firm had sold the bonds subject to council approval, noting that "If this ordinance is not approved here tonight, the sale is off."

Konzen explained after the meeting that the $28.5 million total in revenue bonds includes the expansion and remodeling hospital cost estimated at $18 million, $5 million in outstanding hospital obligations which will be retired out of the bond proceeds, another $2 million in a "reserve" account required by law and an additional $3 million necessary to make interest payments over a period of two to three years that the hospital work is under way.

Issuance of the bonds was undertaken by the city in accordance with "home rule" powers under the 1970 Constitution and was made possible by adoption of an enabling act by the Granite City aldermen earlier this year.

The bill states that "as a result of negotiations between the municipality (Granite City) and the Sisters of Divine Providence, an Illinois not-for-profit corporation (the hospital), the hospital has entered into contracts for the acquisition and construction to its hospital facility located within the municipality, and the acquisition and construction of such improvements constitutes a project within the meaning of the enabling ordinance . . . and the municipality is willing to issue its Hospital Facility Revenue Bonds to pay the project costs."

Objections to the bond sale were voiced primarily by Alderman Charles Douglas of Ward One and Fred "Pat" Schuman Jr. of Ward Two, although they were joined in the negative voting by Alderman Lloyd Bailey of Ward Five.

Douglas and Schuman persisted in arguments that Granite City could be held responsible for retirement of the bonds in event of a default

Love to move office to East

Howard McC. Love, president of National Steel Corporation, will move his office to corporate headquarters in Pittsburgh late this year, it was announced today by George A. Stinson, chairman and chife executive officer.

The move will enable Love, National's chief operating officer, to be associated more closely with National's corporate functions and the overall direction of the company.

Love became president and chief operating officer of National Steel in 1975 after serving as president of the company's Midwest and Granite City Steel Divisions.

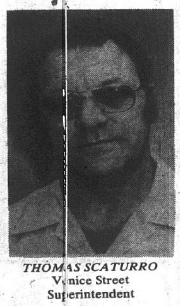

As president, Love assumed operating responsibility for over 50 plants in 22 states and Canada.

He established National's operating headquarters in the St. Louis area because of its central location and the convenience with which he could reach National's steel producing, steel fabricating and other plants.

"This arrangement was ideal at that time," Love said, "and consistent with my own strong feelings about the St. Louis metropolitan area as a place to work and live. But circumstances have a way of changing."

National Steel's top floor offices in the Mercantile Tower in downtown St. Louis will continue to serve the company's data processing headquarters under Richard A. Smith, National's director-management services.

Love said there are no immediate plans for his wife and five children to leave St. Louis.

New political majority?

(First of a series on politics in Madison County)

Alfred Hitchcock, motion picture director, views his filming as almost repetitious because he has already worked out all camera angles and other procedures in infinite detail on paper and in his mind far in advance. "It's like having to do the same thing twice," he comments.

A Granite City political upheaval is in a similar stage, many are convinced. The changeover is seen as foreordained and irrevocable, with the scenario already outlined in detail but not yet formalized.

Although not limited to the trio, the new movement is perhaps best symbolized by the three sons of the 1965-73 mayor, the late Donald Partney Sr.

They head the Granite Sheet Metal Company, an active contracting firm, and are part owners of the two busiest funeral homes, the Mercer Mortuary and Robert Thomas Sr. Memorial Mortuary.

Donald Jr., 38, ran for Seventh Ward alderman in April 1975, losing by a narrow margin. It was speculated at the time that such an office could have served as a base from which to run for mayor.

David Partney, 33, ran in the 1970 and 1974 Democratic primaries for state representative and is regarded as the family's chief political strategist.

Daniel Partney, 27, was elected to the Madison County Board in 1974 for a four-year term. Garnering 5,140 votes for mayor to 6,231 for Mayor Paul Schuler this spring — and leading the incumbent in seven of the 33 precincts — he is said to have run strongly enough to assure another mayor candidacy by him in 1981. If the advance "script" prevails, he

City tax rate down

Granite City taxpayers will pay their tax bills for city purposes this summer on a rate of $1.302 per $100 assessed valuation, a decrease of 8.6 cents below last year's rate, City Council members were notified Tuesday night.

In a similar notice from County Clerk Evelyn Bowles, the council members, while convened as the Town Board, were told the new 1976 tax rate for Granite City Township has been fixed at 21.4 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

The new township rate is .4 of 1 cent higher than the rate of 21 cents extended a year ago.

Taxes will be collected soon by City Treasurer Nick Petrillo who also is ex-officio town collector.

The total assessed valuation in Granite City has been set this year at $177,626,021, an increase of $10,096,684 over the 1975 assessment of $167,602,337 extended last year, the council was told.

Township rates are based on the same valuation since

Scaturro appointed

By WALTER STRANGE
Press-Record Staff Writer

A controversy arose Tuesday night during the Venice City Council meeting over appointments of Thomas Scaturro as superintendent of streets, Clarence Bradley as assistant superintendent of streets, John Mangiaracino as health inspector and Richard Gonterman as office manager at the McKinley toll bridge.

All received confirmation to those positions.

When Mayor William Ebersoldt presented the name of Scaturro to replace the late Jay Maurer as head of the street department, Alderman Tyrone Echols made a motion, seconded by John Ervin, to reject the appointment.

Ervin told Ebersoldt, "You were elected mayor of the entire city, not just South Venice. None of our department heads are from North Venice."

Ervin said that of the 41 appointments to be made by the mayor, only 11 were from North Venice. He accused the mayor of "running a biased city administration."

Chouteau budget hearing June 27

A public hearing on June 27 for discussion of a proposed 1977-78 township budget was scheduled by the Chouteau Town Board during a regular meeting Monday night.

The hearing will be held at 7 p.m. at the township offices, 825 Thorngate Drive and will be followed by a Town Board meeting to act on the budget and appropriation bill.

The public hearing date was set after posting of the new budget for public inspection at the township offices.

The new budget calls for projected expenditures totaling $216,665, up slightly from last year's $211, 570.

Included in appropriations listed in the new budget are $69,235 for the town fund, $56,400 in the feneral assistance fund and $90,980 in the federal revenue sharing fund.

Last year the budget provided $67,770 in the town fund, $46,800 in the general assistance fund and $95,000 in the federal revenue sharing fund.

Town Board members agreed to pay $11,495 in contractors' bills on construction of the new township building after it was reported a previous plan to transfer funds from a Madison County Community Development grant for that purpose might be illegal.

The township expects to receive about $58,000 in development funds but not until mid-July. Since there was an insufficient amount available to meet the contractor's bills, it was decided to use revenue sharing funds that had been set aside to buy furnishings and kitchen equipment for the new town building.

The money will be repaid into the fund for furnishings after the development grant is received next month.

Also discussed was the availability of loans from the County Community Development program by individuals wishing to improve their homes.

Patricia Polley, town clerk, said that loans are available to a maximum of $5,000 at 2.5 per cent interest to persons qualifying within certain income levels to make all types of improvements on homes.

The income schedule ranges from one person in a family making up to $7,000 per year, to eight persons in a family with $14,000 annual income, she said.

Thus far the county has experienced little response to the loan offers, Miss Polley said, although the loans are available to any person falling in the income brackets.

JUNE BRIDE, Mrs. Jack William Hehn, the former Miss Ann Belle Aufderheide, who was married at Hope Lutheran Church. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph L. Aufderheide, 2113 Richmond Ave.

(Haury Studio)

Ann Aufderheide and Jack W. Hehn are wed

Miss Ann Belle Aufderheide, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph L. Aufderheide, 2113 Richmond Ave., and Jack William Hehn, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard R. Hehn, Berwyn, Ill., were united in marriage on June 4 at Hope Lutheran Church.

The Rev. David Fielding officiated at the 4 o'clock double ring ceremony. Palms adorned the altar and burning tapers in hurricane candelabra illuminated the sanctuary.

Dr. Larry Rapp, a cousin of the bride, presided at the organ and played "Air," "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," "Thanks Be To God," "Praeludium in C Major" and "Aria."

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride chose a long white Qiana gown designed with an Empire bodice, accented with lace, which created the high collar, formed a key hole neckline and traced the high rise waistline. The long tapered sleeves were also enhanced with the lace trim and lace cuffs.

A lace cloche seeured her chapel veil edged with scallop lace, etched with pearls, and she carried a bouquet of white orchids, stephanotis and ivy.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Donna Polivick and bridesmaids included Miss Nancy Ropac, Mrs. Steve Burk and Mrs. Terry Douglas.

They wore identical bittersweet color Qiana gowns fashioned in an Empire style. Each attendant held three long stem yellow roses festooned with matching streamers.

The groom chose Bruce Romain as his best man. Jeff and David Hehn, brothers of the groom, Ralph LaRock, Jack Hartig and Robert Moehling, completed the corps of groomsmen and ushers.

Miss Wendy Pflieger, a cousin of the bride, attended the guest book at a reception held at the Collinsville Holiday Inn.

A rehearsal dinner was held in the home of the bride's parents, hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Hehn, parents of the groom.

The newly married couple will be at home in Champaign, Ill., after June 14, following a wedding trip to Hawaii.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Aufderheide selected a floor length peach Qiana gown and the groom's mother, appeared in a formal length ivory Qiana dress. They both wore a white orchid.

Both young people graduated from the University of Illinois. The bride is a speech therapist in the Monticello and Cisco Elementary School District and her husband is a teacher and coach at Cisco Junior High School.

Traffic deaths in sharp rise so far this year

A sharp decrease in the number of Quad-City area traffic accidents occurred during May—as compared with traffic statistics of the same month a year ago—but fatalities increased substantially with a total of five traffic deaths reported during the month.

A compilation of traffic statistics by the Press-Record last month showed a total of 47 accidents in the Quad-City area, with 78 persons injured and five persons injured fatally in those accidents.

In comparison, there were 75 accidents during May 1976, resulting in injuries to 105 persons and one traffic death.

Accidents during May decreased from 66 during April, while the number of persons injured decreased by 40 from 118 traffic injuries in April. There were three traffic fatalities during April.

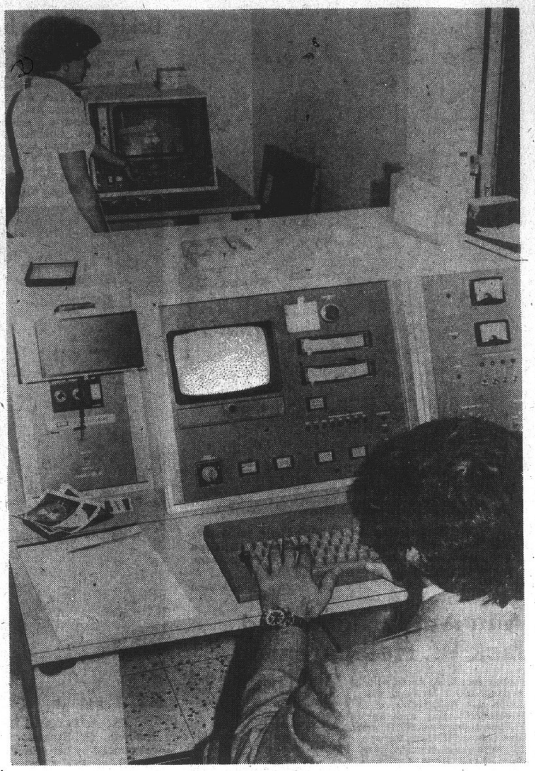

Traffic deaths last month brought to 12 the total for the first five months of this year, an increase of five, or 71 per cent, over a total of seven fatalities during the first five months of 1976.

Statistics show a total of 264 accidents in which there were injuries during the five-months period, with a total of 405 persons injured.

During the same period a year ago, there were 300 accidents in which 445 persons were injured.

Records show a total of 49 accidents in the area during January, resulting in injuries to 74 persons and two traffic deaths. In February, there were 54 accidents causing injuries to 71 and death to two persons.

There were 48 accidents in the area in March, causing injuries to 64 persons. There were no traffic deaths during that month.

In right foreground is Steve Silk, representing the manufacturing company, who trains the local hospital personnel in the operation of the scanner. He is sitting at the control console programming the various components of the system with a keyboard similar to a typewriter. Both viewing screens have the capability of photographing the information on the screen for permanent records and review. Emphasis on health education

Two bachelor's degree programs and one new administrative unit at SIUE were approved Tuesday by the Illinois Board of Higher Education.

Meeting at Lincoln Land Community College, Springfield, the IBHE approved SIUE's requests for a bachelor of science in health education and a bachelor of liberal studies.

University Cultural Arts Services, a new administrative unit housed in the School of Fine Arts and Communications, also received approval. No additional state resources were requested for the unit or the degree programs.

The current master plan of the IBHE indicates that health education is an area of high need. The Illinois Office of Education has listed health education as a certifiable area in which there is an insufficient number of personnel.

SIUE has announced that the university anticipates an enrollment of 85 majors by the sixth year of the program.

SIUE officers anticipate that the program in liberal studies will attract 100 majors by the second year.

A program summary indicates the bachelor of liberal studies is intended to provide opportunity for undergraduates to obtain a degree without concentrating in a particular discipline of study.

Each student will be required to fulfill university general studies requirements. In addition, the student must take a minimum of 24 quarter hours in each of the following categories: natural sciences, social sciences and humanities-fine arts.

The University Cultural Arts Services unit is housed in the School of Fine Arts and Communications and will be responsible for coordination of all SIUE cultural activities that are primarily of an educational nature. The existing Mississippi River Festival program and its future activities are included within the coordination functions of the new unit.

Sanitary district drops expenses for trustees

Metro-East Sanitary District cars that have been driven by board trustees will be placed in a motor pool and automatic $200 monthly expense accounts for the trustees will be eliminated, it was reported Wednesday by Wendell A. Wheadon, district director.

Wheadon said the proposed changes will be presented to board members in the next regular meeting. The trustees met in a brief routine session yesterday, but no expense account claims were presented. The board approved $19,385 in other claims.

During May, records show, District Board President Russell Robinson of Granite City and Trustee John Erhardt of Washington Park drew $2,000 in expense fees. Omar Brummitt of Cahokia drew $400 since his appointment in March and Trustee Leonard Hylla of Madison refused the expense payment.

The board then reduced expense payments from the $400 per month to $200 a month. The trustees will continue to receive the $40 per diem for each meeting they attend.

Wheadon said three 1977 Ford LTDs will be administered by him and used only for district business. Robinson and Brummitt had been driven by Robinson, while Erhardt had been driving an LTD Landau station wagon.

GC school rate reduced

Good and bad financial news was reviewed by the Granite City Board of Education on Tuesday night, including word that the school tax rate will drop 16.8 cents, from $3.729 to $3.561 per $100 assessed valuation.

The bad news was that additional borrowing will be needed to complete the current fiscal year June 30.

Tully A. Heubner, director of business affairs, received board authority to acquire $400,000 for expenses due this week and another $220,000 for those due next week.

Of the total, $250,000 will be transferred to the Education Fund as a loan from the school district's Building Fund, Education Tax Anticipation Warrant No. 3 will be issued this week and a $200,000 tax warrant is planned next week.

"On June 24, we will have another certified payroll of about $440,000," Heubner told the board. "If we do not receive our state aid payment prior to that time, it would be necessary for an additional warrant to be issued."

The new tax rate consists of $2.468 for education (compared to $2.550 a year ago), 36.3 cents (37.5) for building, 33.76 cents (42.95) for bonds and interest, 27.62 cents (25.45) for retirement and 11.62 cents (12) for transportation.

Assessed valuation for the 1976 tax year (1977 collection) is $232,509,074, compared to the previous year's $221,354,636, a gain of $11,154,438.

The rate projections were made by applying the new assessment figure to the tax levies adopted last September.

Police halt auto, locate store items

Quantities of allegedly stolen goods were found in the auto of a Madison woman who was arrested at 3:15 p.m. Tuesday in the 1200 block of Madison Avenue.

Two charges of theft, one a city charge and the other a state charge, have been filed against Maria L. Beaver, 21, of 807 Washington Ave., and a theft charge also was lodged against her companion, a 15-year-old Granite City girl.

The arrests stemmed from a call by the Hill Bros. Shoe Store, 3020 Madison Ave. A police officer was advised a pair of shoes was discovered missing. An employe asked two women if they had the shoes and they replied, "No," and left the parking area.

The policeman taking the report radioed a description of the car and a patroling officer halted a southbound vehicle.

A pair of brown suede shoes, valued at $17, allegedly was taken from a plastic bag and given to the officer by the women, who asked if they could go if the shoes were returned.

The officer alleged finding three large plastic bags in the rear seat of the vehicle and took the car's occupants into custody.

Ownership is being checked on items in the bag allegedly from the No, No's shop, including seven shirts, two blouses, a tank top, 19 pairs of earrings and 13 necklaces, with a total value of $160.

Also being investigated are clothing, meat, jewelry and general merchandise allegedly found in the vehicle, originating from two other Granite City stores and five out-of-town stores.

Maria Beaver was released on notice to appear at 6:15 p.m. Tuesday. The juvenile was released, also on notice to appear, shortly after her arrest.

Lt. Col. George C. Tellor praised the officers for alertness and "an example of good police teamwork."

Parmley resigns GC finance post

Gerald Parmley, alderman of Granite City's Sixth Ward, resigned Tuesday night as chairman of the City Council's Finance Committee, noting that as a member of four separate council committees he is "overloaded with work" and would be unable to adequately serve in the finance post.

Council members, who are authorized under a circuit court ruling to name the members of council committees, recessed briefly to consider the development.

As they reconvened, it was announced that Parmley's resignation had been accepted and that Warren Decatur, alderman of Ward Four, had been selected by the aldermen to replace Parmley on the committee.

This will leave Mayor Paul Schuler the right to name the chairman of that committee. Other members of the Finance Committee, one of the city's major council committees, include Paul Ray Bowler of Ward Seven and Fred Schuman Jr. of Ward Two.

Parmley announced his resignation after completing his report as Finance Committee chairman during Tuesday night's regular council meeting.

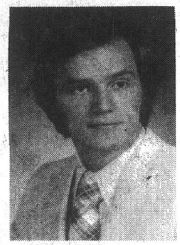

"I'm on four committees and with the work load I have I just can't see how I can do justice to the job of completing the new budget and carrying on the other duties," he said.

Parmley also is a member of the council's Police, Special Sewer and City Hall committees. He is chairman of the Special Sewer Committee.

Bowler, a member of the Finance Committee, told the aldermen after Parmley announced his resignation that he believed any other member named to the committee should be one "with some experience on the council in finance work." He noted that both he and Schuman are new members of the council without experience in budget preparation.

Bowler made a motion that Decatur be named to the committee, but Alderman Clyde Boyd of the Third Ward explained that since committee members are named by the council, the decision should be reached in a council caucus rather than by official action on the council floor.

The Finance Committee now is involved in preparation of the new budget, although no preliminary drafts have yet been submitted to the council. The budget must be approved and given legal publication before midnight July 31.

The presentation was made by Dean Hiram H. Lesar of the law school who also gave Orsey a gift of a second-year law textbook.

GC driver charged

Washington Park police are assembling information to present to St. Clair County state's attorney's office concerning a local man who allegedly struck a motorcyclist and fled the scene of the accident.

Jack Hladyshewski, 30, of Belleville, died at 8:30 a.m. Tuesday at St. Louis University Hospital of injuries received in the accident, occurring at 12:30 a.m. Sunday at 53rd Street and Bunkum Road in Washington Park.

Washington Park Police Chief Kenneth J. Koski said Richard A. Moussette, 21, of 2542 Lincoln Ave., Granite City, was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol and leaving the scene of an accident. He was released on bond.

Chief Koski said Wednesday the St. Clair County state's attorney's office is being consulted on the possibility of further charges against the Granite City man. A warrant could be issued or the case may be taken to the grand jury, he explained.

Moussette reportedly informed a Granite City police officer about the accident when police were summoned to Moussette's former home at 1:10 a.m. Sunday.

An auto owned by a Granite City woman, believed to have been involved in the accident, was towed from here and impounded by Washington Park police.

Mr. Hladyshewski is survived by two children, David Allen and Laurie Renee Hladyshewski; his mother, Mrs. Nina McDaniel of Belleville; and several brothers and sisters.

Funeral services are scheduled at 1 p.m. Friday at a Fairview Heights mortuary.

GC revises use permit rule

An amendment to Granite City's zoning law to limit special use permits to the businesses or professional uses for which they first are issued was adopted by the City Council Tuesday night.

The amendment ordinance was adopted by a unanimous council vote of the 13 members present after first suspending the rules to permit final passage.

The bill states that "when the use for which a special use zoning has been granted terminates by cessation of that particular use.....then the special use zoning for the particular premises previously zoned "special use' shall revert to the zoning classification in existence prior to the special use classification."

Change in the law was requested by Alderman Emerald Dawes of the Seventh Ward after the council was notified in mid-April that a special use permit issued for a real estate office at 2861 Madison Ave. was to be used to open a chiropractor office at that address.

Dawes said he understood that once a business for which a special use permit was issued was disolved or discontinued operations the property reverted to the original zoning at the time the permit was issued.

City Attorney George Filcoff said that was not the case, explaining that use permits cover a number of categories and that the permit may be used for any of them so long as the categories of business are within those listed in the zoning law.

Filcoff said the property at 2861 Madison Ave. used as a real estate office could be changed to use as a chiropractor's office under the original use permit even without recourse by the permit holder to the City Plan Commission or the City Council.

In related actions, the council Tuesday night enacted an ordinance rezoning property at 2807 Marshall Ave. from its present R-3 classification to an R-4 classification. The action was taken on the recommendation of the City Plan Commission.

The rezoning was granted at the request of Robert Lowe to permit construction of a duplex.

Also approved was rezoning for 2325 Nameoki Road from its present non-conforming use to C-1 commercial use. That action was requested by Jesse Mitchell to permit operation of a CB radio shop.

Joint services today for drowning victims

The bodies of Mrs. Donna Anne Flaugher, 28, and her 8-year-old son, Jeffery Lee Flaugher, of 808 East Seventh St., Alton, were found Tuesday afternoon in the Mississippi River, near the Hartford Canal.

A Wood River rescue squad spokesman reported that the body of Mrs. Flaugher surfaced and floated ashore at 1:25 p.m., about 100 yards west of the Hartford Canal in the Mississippi River.

She was pronounced dead at the scene at 2:01 p.m. by Mrs. Dallas Burke, county coroner.

At 4:15 p.m. the boy's body came to the surface about 125 feet west of the canal and he was pronounced dead at the scene at 4:45 p.m. by Mrs. Burke.

Mrs. Flaugher's 10-year-old daughter, Kim Marie Flaugher, was recovered at 4 p.m. Sunday, and pronounced dead at 4:06 p.m. Sunday in the drowning incident.

The mother and her two children were drowned Sunday afternoon after the two children went into deep water while wading near Lewis & Clark Park and the mother went into the river in an effort to save them.

Madison County Sheriff's deputies reported the two children were wading in the Hartford Canal with their sister, Cindy, 6, and two young cousins when currents apparently swept the Flaugher children into water about 35 feet deep.

Mrs. Flaugher, who was fishing nearby, heard their cries for help and ran to the shoreline where she entered the water. She was reported to be an excellent swimmer, but all three victims were carried into deeper water, apparently from the undertow of a wash by a passing barge.

Lewis & Clark Park is located north of Granite City on Route 3, west of the Hartford Canal Bridge.

Survivors of Mrs. Flaugher include her husband, Larry Dale Flaugher; another daughter, 5-year-old Cindy Marie; her parents, Mrs. Mary Lou Knuth, and father, Donald Jones, both of Alton; seven half-brothers and one half-sister.

Kim Marie and Jeffery Lee are survived by their father, Larry Dale Flaugher; a sister, Cindy Marie; grandparents, Mrs. Mary Lou Knuth and Donald Jones, both of Alton, and Mr. and Mrs. Perry Flaugher of Edwardsville.

Joint funeral services were held today. Details are given in the obituary column.

Corrie national player of year

Former Venice High School basketball player Jeff Corrie has been named player of the year by the National Small College Athletic Association.

Corrie, a member of the Red Devils' 1975 Class A Illinois state champion team, helped the Parks College Falcons gain a 26-4 record in the 1976-77 season from his guard position.

He set a new team record of most points scored by an individual in a single contest with 40.

3rd place gives Spalding 1st place in racing points

Veteran stock car driver Wib Spalding of Pontoon Beach heads the Gateway Auto Racing Association late model division point standings going into Saturday's auto racing program at Tri-City Speedway.

Competition on the half-mile dirt oval will start at 7:30 p.m. Saturday with preliminary heat races, and concluded with feature races for both late model and sportsman divisions.

Spalding surged into the point lead with a strong third-place finish last Saturday in the main event.

The top two point leaders were involved in a 13th lap accident during the feature race, preventing C. C. Corbin of East Alton and Russ Wallace of Arnold, Mo., from competing further.

The Pontoon Beach driver earned 205 points to boost him into the point lead from his previous third place in the standings.

Currently Spalding has 1,025 points, Wallace 1,015, Corbin 975, Bill Myers of Rosewood Heights 905, Kenny Shrum of St. Charles, Mo. (last Saturday's feature race winner) 830, Jerry Sifford, a two-time main event victor this season, 815, and Willie Johnston, 685.

Dean Aerne heads that division for a third straight week with 1,285 points. Jerry Zehnle has 1,025 points and Gary Barker 1,010.

The divisions are: Atom, ages 7-9, Bantam for 10-11, Midget for 12-13 and Juvenile, ages 14-16.

The season started Tuesday for four Atom Division squads at Venice's Lee Park diamonds. Results: Red Devils 16, Saints 8 (WP Darnell Marshall. HR Monica Mathews) Madison County 3, Angels 1 (WP Craig Hampton).

Juvenile division teams will start competition today at 6 p.m., with Madison hosting the East St. Louis Cougars.

Atom Division Monday's results follow: Summer Bluebirds 2, Boushard-Voegele Cardinals 0 (WP Patton) Mr. Quick 8, Speed Racers 3 (WP Robert) Summer Bluebirds 8, McKinley Bridge 6 (WP Patton)

Bethalto team, rain plague Legionnaires

Both the Tri-City Post 113 and Glen Carbon Post 435 American Legion baseball teams failed to score a run yesterday at separate playing sites, but for different reasons.

Conrad "Babe" Champions' Post 113 Legionnaires never made it onto the diamond for a scheduled contest here with Highland due to heavy rain which deluged the area, forcing postponement of the contest.

Glen Carbon's Art Jovi and his charges hosted Bethalto at Wilson Park, but the visitors garnered 10 runs while shutting out Post 435.

Three hurlers toiled for the Glen Carbon squad — Dave Wood three innings, Kevin Ragen two and Dave Meyers, two.

Kevin Hayes, Richard Schmidt, Jeff Frields and Robert Harris singled for the losers.

Post 113 is on the road today in District 22 Legion action at Mascoutah, starting at six o'clock, and then will host East St. Louis at 6 p.m. tomorrow at the GCHS South diamond (Fehling Road curve).

The Glen Carbon squad is set for two non-league games Sunday, competing at 4 p.m. at Marion and then at 6 p.m. at Murphysboro.

On Monday, Glen Carbon visits Fairview Heights for a 6 p.m. league contest.

Cyclists open year; race marred by crash

KENNY ROBERTS

GREG FALTER

Terry Poovey of Garland, Tex., took top honors Tuesday night in an accident-marred American Motorcyclist Association season-opening racing program at Tri-City Speedway.

Professional racer Greg Falter, 18, of Pontoon Beach, was hospitalized with head injuries.

Falter, a 1976 GCHS North graduate and a son of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Falter Jr., 3925 Pontoon Road, placed third in both a heat race and a semifinal event to qualify for a starting spot in the 10-lap feature race.

The Pontoon Beach resident was holding down seventh place in the main event on the seventh lap around the quarter-mile dirt track.

Suddenly, two cycles crashed in front of him, one being that of Kenny Roberts of Modesto, Calif., national racing champion in 1973 and 1974.

Roberts, the current 1977 national point leader, was injured.

He told the Press-Record, "We were in the curve between turns three and four when a motorcycle ridden by Bruce Townsend of Oklahoma went down right in front of me.

"I struck Townsend's cycle and, at just about the same moment, Falter plowed into both of us."

Roberts, who was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital for a possible concussion and an injury to his right thumb, added, "All I actually remember were the parts of the three cycles flying in all directions, and then Falter lying motionless on the track."

Falter was transported to St. Elizabeth Hospital by a Wood River Volunteer Emergency Corps ambulance. He was treated and then transferred to Firmin Desloge Hospital, St. Louis, where he was in a coma yesterday in the hospital's intensive care unit.

Roberts, who declined being admitted to the hospital here, and his wife, Pat, and the couple's two children remained here overnight at the home of Ken Thompson, Press-Record sports writer.

They departed Wednesday for Delaware, where he is to compete Saturday night in a national point race, hoping to extend his point margin in search of a third national title.

He explained that his decision to stop here enroute to the East Coast was for the purpose of test racing a newly-built dirt track motorcycle.

Roberts competed during the weekend in a national half-mile race at Louisville, Ky., placing eighth.

The event was captured by the 1975 national champion, Gary Scott, who is second behind Roberts in this year's point standings.

"I believe the new cycle is producing sufficient power for rapid acceleration coming out of the turns," he said. "But the chasis will have to undergo minor changes to its design to help increase the performances down straight-aways."

Beary was also the evening's fastest qualifier in pre-race time trials, turning a one-lap time of 15.11 seconds.

In addition to winning the feature race, Poovey placed second in a heat race won by Gary Ruest of Texas, and then beat Ruest across the finish line in a semifinal.

Poovey, who won his first professional race at a speedway in Kansas while still in high school, competed last year as a "rookie" in national competition, winning 15 events and topping the 1976 season with a victory in the Talledaga short-track national race in Alabama.

A non-professional class portion of Tuesday evening's program at Tri-City saw Rod Hartzel of Mitchell emerge as a heat race winner, and Jim Bradley of St. Louis take the honors in a feature race.

Mercer to host

The top two Illinois Inter-City Baseball League teams will clash for the first time this season when Mercer Mortuary hosts the Music Room Vans for a 1 p.m. twinbill Sunday at Wilson Park's diamond one.

Other 1 p.m. doubleheaders slated Sunday include Thomas Memorial Mortuary vs. Mitchell Athletic Club at Mitchell, J&J Liquor vs. Brewers at East Alton, and Highland-Pierron at Panama.

After being tied for first place following May 22 games, the Vans swept both ends of a twinbill the following weekend while Mercer split two games.

Both won twice early this week, resulting in the Vans having a 11-1 record to Mercer's 10-2.

Making a bid for second place is the Mitchell club, which has a 9-3 record.

The Brewers are 5-7, Thomas 4-6, Highland 4-8, Panama 2-8 and J&J 1-11.

Long seasons aid 'sun belt' schools against SIUE nine

During the weekend at Springfield's Lanphier Park, it was decided on the baseball diamond which team was the NCAA's Division II No. 1 team. The University of California-Riverside won the championship by turning back Eckerd College of Florida, 4-1.

In winning the crown, Cal-Riverside avenged an earlier loss in the tourney, a double-elimination affair.

In that same tournament, Coach Roy E. Lee's Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Cougars bowed out in two straight games, losing their opening game to the University of Missouri-St. Louis 9-8 and then bowing to Mississippi's Delta State, 5-4. In both games, the Cougars lost after leading most of the way.

In the just-released final nationwide poll collected and distributed by Collegiate Baseball, the Cougars finished sixth, UMSL fifth, Cal-Riverside No. 1 and Eckerd, which had led most of the season, second place.

All the talk about rankings has brought up a subject which most northern collegiate baseball coaches say they believe should be seriously considered by NCAA rulemakers.

It concerns the number of baseball games a member school should be permitted to schedule and play. In football, it's now 11. In basketball, it's 27.

For example, the coaches feel that the southern (Florida, Mississippi, etc.) and western (mostly Arizona and California) schools, because of favorable breaks in the weather, have an almost unbeatable advantage going into a national tournament.

All but one (Illinois State) Division II baseball title has been won by either a Florida or California school.

Take the three teams which really battled it out up at Springfield last week: Delta State finished with a 57-game (41-16- total; Cal-Riverside played 61 (42-19) games, and Eckerd totaled 42 games (34-8). The Cougars finished with a 44-game mark (25-18-1) for the season.

In the NCAA Division I World Series at Omaha, Neb., participants included two schools which dealt the Cougars three of their 18 defeats: SIU at Carbondale (twice) and South Carolina (once).

Almost always forgotten in a comparison of the Cougars' second-place finish at Springfield last year (1976) and the season just completed is the fact that Lee lost 11 seniors off his successful '76 team. SIUE battled back to Springfield with a squad of mostly underclassmen.

The 1977 battling championship for the Cougars went to sophomore catcher Randy Manley, who finished with a .370 average.

He was followed by Greg McBride's .328, Kent Wells' .327, Bill Stolte's .325, James Noffke's .316, Mike Liay's .311, Don Broadway's .298, Dave Schaake's .297, Don Eberlin's .291, Mike Brown's .273, Bob Wilber's .264, Steve Novak's .262, Kevin Pesko's .242 and Don Lange's .205.

Most of the new SIUE baseball records posted during the season were negative ones: Most hits given up, Jerry Deml's 78; most runs allowed, Deml's 45; most earned runs allowed, Deml's 32; most homers allowed, Sam Pastrovich's six, which tied Ron Middleton's record in the '71 season; most games appeared in, Pastrovich, 17; most games started, Deml and Stan Osterbur's 11; most losses: Deml and Steve Ashby's five.

Brown tied one batting record: Tim Twellman's eight triples. Twellman, who was last year's regular second baseman, decided to play pro soccer this year.

Kent Hendrickson, junior righthanded reliever, posted the mound staff's best, by far, earned-run average: 2.90. In the process, he racked up a 3-0 record while appearing in 13 games.

Osterbur of Granite City and Pastrovich had the best records with 6-3 marks. Of the "big four" starters, Granite City an Ashby's 3.25 ERA was the best.

Trade adjustment aid here rejected

The U.S. Labor Department has denied petitions for trade adjustment assistance filed on behalf of workers employed by firms in Granite City and Oak Brook, Ill., and Kenosha, Wis.

Affected are Interlake, Inc., Oak Brook, a producer of molten iron; National Steel Corporation's Granite City Steel Division, hot rolled, cold rolled and galvanized carbon steel products; and Sheridan AMC-Jeep, Kenosha, sale and service of autos, recreational vehicles and auto parts.

The Trade Act of 1974 provides that workers who believe they have been or will become unemployed due to increased imports may petition the U.S. secretary of labor for certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance.

The denials of the petitions involving workers at the firms were issued by the Labor Department's Bureau of International Labor Affairs after detailed investigations relating to layoffs at the firms.

The investigations led to the conclusion that increased imports did not contribute importantly to the total or partial separation of workers at the firms' plants.

The petition requesting certification of eligibility for the National Steel Corp. workers to apply for adjustment assistance was filed with the Labor Department on Dec. 15, 1976, by the United Steelworkers of America on behalf of workers and former workers producing steel at the Granite City Steel plant.

A subsequent department investigation revealed that the average number of hourly workers employed at the Granite City plant increased from 1975 to 1976. Total sales and production at the plant also increased from 1975 to 1976.

Under the Trade Act, a group of workers whose petition for adjustment assistance has been denied by the Labor Department may file a petition for review with the U.S. Court of Appeals for the circuit in which the group is located, or with the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia.

Price backs pension bill for World War I veterans

Cong. Melvin Price (Dem., 22rd Illinois) is the co-sponsor of legislation in the U.S. House of Representatives that would provide a $150 a month service pension to veterans of World War I and their surviving spouses and children.

The nation has provided little to World War I veterans, Price said, who are ineligible for the benefits available to veterans of later wars.

There are only 834,000 surviving veterans of World War I.

When they were discharged, Price said, there was no educational aid program, no effort to help them find jobs, no home loan program and no veterans hospitals as there are today.

The bill to provide pensions for these veterans, H.R. 1808, originally was introduced by Congressman Glenn Anderson of California. The bill now is being studied by the House Committee on Veterans' Affairs.

New change on GI Bill checks

A previously announced procedure that would have caused a break between summer and fall checks for veterans attending school under the GI Bill has been changed.

Donald Ramsey, director of the Veterans Administration regional office in Chicago, said Administrator of Veterans Affairs Max Cleland has relaxed the procedure. Students who continue in the fall with less than a month's break will be paid on schedule, providing the student is continuously enrolled or pre-registers early enough to allow for processing the paperwork.

There is no change in the legal requirement that allowances be paid at the end of the month rather than at the beginning, Ramsey said.

That law will result in a 60-day break between the "prepayment" check which came May 1 and the "post-payment" check that will come July 1.

Students who are not eligible for continuous payment because there is more than a calendar month break between terms have the option of receiving either an advance payment or a regular end-of-month payment.

New procedures permit advance payment for the first partial or full month, plus the following month, only if the student makes a written request 30 days prior to registration and the school agrees to process the advance payments.

Moose Lodge 272 marks 67th year

Moose Lodge 272, 19th and Adams Streets, celebrated 67 years in the Loyal Order of Moose with a party and dance attended by 200 members and guests.

Festivities included the annual presentation of the "it awards" by Boyd Presley, governor of the lodge.

Those receiving the honors were Earl Mead, Bob Thebeau, Ralph Skaggs, Fred Miller, Maxine Barnstable, Ruth Stover, Leonard and Betty Crone, John Parker, Leonard Crone, Bud Worthen, Ed Chastain, Fred Miller, Rosela Mead, Buddy Bay and Bill Kmucha. A special citation was given to Walter Spears, president of District 10.

TELEVISION STOLEN

A console television set taken from an annex building at Webster School was found between two outside buildings at 11:35 p.m. Tuesday. Entry into the main school building was gained through a gymnasium window, but nothing in there appeared to have been disturbed, Principal James Jeffries said.

Care needed in pruning roses

By WAYNE B. SIEFERT
Madison County
Lawn and Garden Adviser

Roses seem to "run out of gas" in hot weather. Improper pruning may slow up their recovery and summertime efforts.

Hybrid teas and florabundas need regular pruning to control size and remove the spent flowers. Pruning to remove the old flowers stimulates the development of new shoots and more flowers.

To maintain the present size, or gradually enlarge the plant, prune back the old flower stems to the first five-leaflet leaf below the flower.

When long shoots occur or you would like to somewhat reduce the size of your plant, cut down to the second five-leaflet leaf from the bottom of the stem. This also is the rule when cutting bouquets.

Leave a stub with one or two five-leaflet leaves in order to start new shoots for more flowers.

Everblooming climbers are also at a low point. Many new shoots are appearing while the old canes are standing still.

Continual pruning will gradually remove the old wood and stimulate flower development on the lower branches. Do not prune-off suckers because they are not flowering. These suckers are next year's flowering canes.

+++

Early June is the ideal time to prune your pine tree to develop an attractive shape and dense growth. Prune it by cutting the leader (the top shoot) to an 8-12-inch stub.

Prune the lateral shoots of this top cluster 2-4 inches shorter than the leader.

For the side branches, use the same plan as the top. Cut the main candles one-third to one-half instead of the 8-12" rule, with the lateral candles cut slightly shorter.

Pruning pines involves a special understanding of the tree, not unusual skill. Every pine produces a new spurt of growth, candles, which mature by late June.

Clusters of dormant buds develop on the end of each candle. If you prune the tree in early June when these candles are soft, the tree will develop new buds in the needle clusters nearest the cut.

If you prune these same candles in the fall, buds will not develop near the cuts and each cut limb will become a stub.

White Pine, Scotch Pine and Austrian Pine all respond to proper pruning without changing their pryamid habit of growth. When a pine is rather slow growing and dense, it is not necessary to prune every year.

CHARGED IN WARRANTS

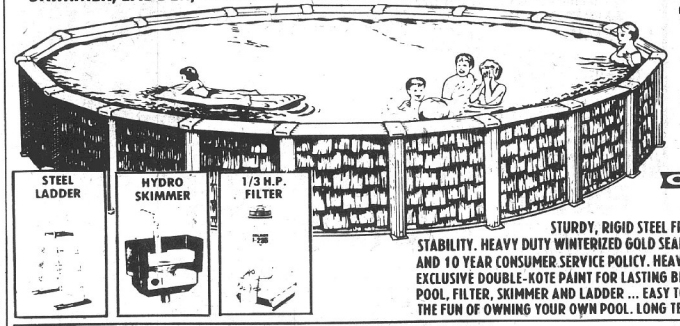

Bryan I. Watts, 21, of 2200 Adams St., was arrested at his address at 6:45 a.m. Wednesday on warrants charging him with assault, battery and disorderly conduct.

Scaturro

Echols voiced the opinion that Assistant Superintendent of Streets Clarence Bradley should be appointed the new street department head.

Mayor Ebersoldt responded, "I work just as hard for the north end of town as the south. It is my responsibility to all the people of Venice to appoint the best qualified men. I am not looking at what ward they come from.

"Clarence has done us a good job since Mr. Maurer's death. However, I think Scaturro has some talents that are needed by the city. I have got to look at the overall picture and try to be fair to the citizens."

John Henry Williams, president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), speaking on the issue said, "I have heard a lot of comments about North Venice and South Venice here and as far as I am concerned I live in Venice and we all must work together.

"There are going to be decisions and appointments made by the council that everyone is not going to like 100 per cent of the time, but we have to support as citizens of Venice those who are appointed."

Voting to confirm the mayor's appointment of Scaturro were Aldermen E. H. Buente, George Mangiaracino, Hank A. Svezia and Thomas Voegele.

Voting to reject Scaturro were Aldermen Echols, Ervin, Oscar King and George Lewis.

Mayor Ebersoldt voted for Scaturro, breaking the 4-4 tie and confirming the appointment.

Mayor Ebersoldt asked for a motion to approve Clarence Bradley as assistant superintendent of streets.

Alderman Echols said, "Purely on the grounds that I feel Bradley should be the superintendent of streets and not the assistant, I move we reject the appointment." The motion was seconded by Ervin. The vote was identical to the Scaturro vote with the mayor breaking the tie.

"I want to say that Clarence has done a good job as acting superintendent and I would like to have a motion that he be paid at the superintendent's salary for the period he has served," Mayor Ebersoldt said.

The council concurred.

A split vote occurred on the appointment of Mangiaracino as health inspector with the "no" votes cast by Echols and Ervin, "yes" votes by Buente, Mangiaracino, Svezia and Voegele.

Alderman Lewis said, "I don't know anything about the man so I vote present." Alderman King also voted present.

Mayor Ebersoldt presented the name of Richard Gonterman as McKinley Toll Bridge office manager.

Alderman Ervin said, "I move to reject the appointment until the bridge committee can interview other applicants. It was my understanding his original appointment was just until June so the committee could be brought into the picture."

Ervin's motion was defeated with Buente, Mangiaracino, Svezia and Voegele voting against the motion to reject.

Aldermen Echols, Ervin and Lewis voted for the motion and Alderman King voted present.

Other appointments made by the mayor with no opposition, were:

Joseph Meehan, humane officer; George Green, building custodian; William F. Guennewig, radio engineer; Benjamin Honorable, director Office of Emergency Preparedness; James D. Sands and John Boushard, building inspectors; William Baucum, health inspector.

Thomas Fields, bridge manager; Alfred Crawford, chief maintenance man; Dumas, police pension board; Tim Bennett, Ernest Davenport and Eddie Johnisee, police commissioners; William McGarahan, Jack Tolliver and Roderick L. Baldwin, boiler inspectors, John Bilna and Carl Marr, representatives to the Mental Health Board.

Appointed to a three-year term on the Library Board were Mrs. Margaret Lee, Mrs. Lorene Morris, Mrs. Frankie Griggs and Miss Judy Reidelberger.

Appointed to the Community Development Committee were: Dan McGee, Mrs. Beatrice Wigfall, Mrs. Valetta Bauder, John Henry Williams, Fred Rumpf, Mrs. Dorothy Griggs and Mrs. Barbara Madison.

Politics

would be the winner that year.

The Partney-and-friends movement is now regarded by numerous observers as having achieved majority support in the community, not yet fully demonstrated but seen as a future certainty.

Chief political targets of the movement are Mayor Schuler, 45, and Nelson Hagnauer, 49, Granite City Township supervisor and chairman of the Madison County Board. Both won citywide election races two months ago.

Among the examples of the new movement's power is the issue of whether the office of street superintendent should be filled by election, as at present, or by appointment, as voted by the City Council April 26.

A Partney friend, Supt. Lionel Portell, seeks to override the aldermanic majority through a special election sought for Oct. 4. The referendum would serve to require that the street position continue to be filled at elections.

Nearly enough petition signatures already have been obtained to secure the special vote, it is being asserted.

Forecasts are that Portell will receive a vote of confidence from most of those going to the polls in such an election.

The three brothers were among those present May 3 to urge that the City Council rescind its action on Portell, and the three leaders of the petition drive include a Partney employe.

The same employe was among those failing to win a City Council seat April 5, but the tactic of Daniel Partney running for mayor along with a full slate of candidates for council and other municipal offices is seen as having been an effective approach.

Although categorized by some as being aligned with incumbent aldermen, Mayor Schuler did not actually play a visible role in the various ward campaigns for City Council seats.

The full opposition slate, meanwhile, met regularly on Sunday afternoons in the YMCA auditorium as part of its campaigning, which also included door-to-door contact.

Evangelistic fervor developed among candidates and backers, some reaching sweeping conclusions about the virtues of members of their slate and the deficiencies of "the City Hall crowd."

If there is a new Granite City majority with the reins already in its hands, only needing to utilize those reins to consolidate its power, a key element of its strength is that so many of its members are committed to it as a crusade, and not merely warmly but hotly.

The intense zeal displayed in a number of specific instances is considered to be of immense future significance.

It is not just how many partisans there are to "spread the message," but how motivated they are and how convinced they are that their cause is just.

In such a movement, allegations sometimes seem to become proven facts, and differences of opinion become right-vs.-wrong absolutes.

Although this aspect — the courage of their convictions — is somewhat unusual in the degree that has been reached, there also are practical reasons for the movement's growth in political punch.

Observers point out that the movement, while seeking to project a citizens-vs.-politicians image, has skillfully followed one of the most fundamental of all political maxims — absorb as many as possible of the opposing or undecided leaders under your own banner.

Those enlisted in the cause over a period of years have included the late Alderman Walter Nonn, former Alderman Gene Sternberg, Street Supt. Portell, former State's Attorney and former Judge Fred P. Schuman Sr., Assessor Von Dee Cruse and former Granite City Democratic Chairman Richard Allen.

Among the alleged political faults of such leaders as Supervisor Hagnauer and Mayor Schuler is that they let so many allies or potential allies get away.

Revenue

was from. The agent had said he was from Springfield.

"The bookkeeper said, 'If they want them, they will get them. They play for keeps.

"'They (IRS) can do almost anything they want to do. If they want them, I don't think you should stop them,' he advised us.

"We thought this was right, and that we might be subject to a fine if we didn't provide the books.

"We met with the agent, who had a list of those they were investigating — about 11 persons.

"I asked who started the investigation, and commented that 'it won't be long before everyone knows this is going on.' The agent said, 'Actually, no one started it.'

"He said he had investigated Madison Countyans for about two years, on possible tax evasion charges.

"The agent said, 'These names keep coming up. Finally, our boss came in and said we are going to do an investigation,' the agent told us.

"The Revenue Service agent then went through our books and, from there, we met other agents and intelligence agents," the deputy continued.

"We were catching a lot of heat, that we felt was unjustified.

"We would solicit twice a year, for the annual dance and for charity baskets. One year, about $80,000 was raised.

"We had wanted to do it ourselves — the solicitation — and make about $4,000 without putting a burden on the people.

"But we were shown a five-year signed contract for a company from another state to conduct the solicitation.

"We said we might challenge the contract — that we did not think it was binding. It got kind of heated.

"Someone said this was a small operation compared to some solicitations. We said that $80,000 was a large amount.

"We paid rent and office supplies. We rented an office for the solicitors to work from.

"A detective agency was started, with the office above ours. The girl always answered with the telephone number and then decided whether the call was for the detective agency or the deputies' association.

"We later learned there were phone bills being paid for calls all over the United States, including some from home phones that were charged to us.

"We broke the contract. A Republican was hired as our attorney, and some people didn't like that.

"We tried to get our charter put together, but about 18 months ago the state revoked the charter because we hadn't filed reports with them, and we folded.

"How the Federal Bureau of Investigation came in, I'm not sure. They started their own investigation, separate from the IRS," the deputy concluded.

Record crowd at Shrine parade

VALERIE EVENDEN
Press-Record Staff Writer

Cleverly costumed clowns riding their own unique form of transportation, decorative floats and smartly attired marching bands created a colorful spectacle Tuesday evening for an estimated 29,000 area residents lining the route of the Shrine parade.

The traditional parade launches the annual Shrine Circus, sponsored by Ainad Shrine Temple, which continues tonight and Friday with performances at 7:30 at Tri-City Speedway, 5100 Nameoki Road (Route 203).

Tickets remain the same price as last year, costing $2.50 each, with a single ticket admitting one adult or two children to the circus grounds.

Seats are not reserved for any show and tickets may be obtained at the speedway immediately before showtime.

Wednesday's opening night performance was marred by intermittent rain, which dispersed many of those attending. But a dedicated number of circus lovers came well equipped for a sudden shower and at one point in the show the grandstand was virtually covered with raised umbrellas and newspapers held above bare heads.

All the circus acts performed at ground level were seen, although some appeared to be shortened in length.

Ainad Temple Potentate Ralph E. Green announced the aerial acts would not be presented due to the hazards involved in performing on wet rigging.

He invited the audience to get rain checks and return to see the circus in its entirety, either tonight or Friday.

All proceeds from the circus are used to help support the Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children and the Shriners Burns Center.

Judged to be the largest crowd ever to watch a Shrine parade in Granite City, the route of the 83 parade units was lined three and four persons deep at most locations, from 24th Street along Madison Avenue and Nameoki Road to Nameoki Village Shopping Center.

Cries of "Is it coming Daddy" to "They're only two blocks away" must have been echoed by hundreds of youngsters eagerly awaiting their first glimpse of the paraders.

Deafening sirens from police vehicles and fire and rescue trucks resounded through the early evening air, mixed with the strains of stirring band music.

Spectators greeted with applause the Granite City High School North Band and pompon squad, its members resplendent in smartly-styled black and silver uniforms, and the brilliantly-colored mystic robes of the Shrine Oriental Band, led by giant-size Drum Major Harold Stonesifer, flashing a broad scimitar.

Seated at the curbside, frequently being admonished by grownups to "keep your feet out of the road," the children were delighted as always by the antics and costumes of the Shrine clowns, who distributed candy favors to the waiting youngsters.

Perhaps the happiest child at Tuesday night's parade was 5-year-old James "Jimmy" Wasson of Pontoon Beach.

Balancing precariously on miniature-size crutches, Jimmy yelled happily at the passing cavalcade of Shriners, many of whom shouted back greetings to the tiny boy whose legs are encased in a heavy cast to the hips.

A plaster-covered bar between the legs keeps them spread apart and for him to stand erect appeared to be impossible until one saw the child use his crutches and push himself from a sitting position on the curb.

Jimmy has Perthes' disease, a bone disease involving inflammation of the head and neck of the thighbone at the hip joints.

His ailment was diagnosed in January when Jimmy was encased in his first cumbersome cast.

The cast was replaced in May, and doctors at Shriner's Hospital for Crippled Children in St. Louis are very pleased with his progress.

His mother, Mrs. Judith Wasson, said, "His doctor says Jimmy is healing so well that when this cast comes off in August, he probably won't need another one put on and he will be cured."

Commenting to the mother how happy and excited the boy appeared, she replied, "All the children over there (Shriner's Hospital) are like that.

"I'd like to tell anyone who has a child with a handicap to contact a Shriner for help. If they don't know a Shriner personally, then tell them to write to the hospital for an application," Mrs. Wasson said.

Often greeted by individual Shriners, Jimmy also had plenty of company from the passing parade of Shrine clowns.

Upon seeing the small figure standing at the curbside leaning on his crutches, the clowns made a point of coming over to the child, giving him candy, shaking his hand or patting him on the head.

"What did you do Jimmy, break your arm," one Shriner shouted to the small boy. "No, no, no," Jimmy yelled back, lifting one crutch and waving it around.

Jimmy's uncle, Rich McIntosh, who was with the family, said the boy's sponsoring Shriner is Marty LeVault, a Madison County sheriff's deputy.

From the vantage point of this reporter, near the intersection of Madison Avenue and Nameoki Road, the viewing crowd appeared happy, relaxed and well behaved.

Russell Maxwell, administrator of Ainad Shrine Temple, said such conditions did not exist all the way along the parade route.

He also was highly critical of persons on local floats who threw candy into the crowd.

"Before the parade started, everyone was told the rules, no throwing candy from floats," he said yesterday.

"We can't take the chance of a piece of candy striking a child in the eye or hurting someone. We stress that no candy should be thrown into the crowd," Maxwell emphasized.

"Next year, any float from which candy or any other object is thrown will be immediately pulled from the parade," Maxwell stressed.

Maxwell waa also critical of the behavior of spectators at several intersections.

"They kept pushing forward, pushing the little ones in front into the street, especially near 27th and 28th streets, barely giving the musicians in the North High School Band enough room to march," he said.

"This kind of thing takes the beauty of the parade away from others watching," the Shrine officer said.

"People must learn to give the paraders a chance and not force others up against the marchers," he added.

At Friday night's performance of the circus, trophies will be awarded to the most decorative and uniquely designed floats, it was announced today by Tom Hundley and Kelly Hogan, parade co-chairmen.

option on a tract of land. The location was not disclosed.

The tract is reported to contain about 36 acres.

Michael A. White, vice-president of the Vincent Metals Co., told the Press-Record that plans for construction and operation of the firm here "are progressing smoothly but there are a number of things still to be worked out."

He said the plan is a "firm one" and noted that "I would be shocked if anything happened at this point to interfere with the program."

White said the location will be announced when the option is taken up.

He said there is no estimate available as to the amount of investment that would be involved, how big the plant facilities would be, or how many employes would be required for the operation.

"At this time we have no design plans for the facilities because it is a little premature for that. We want to clear away all other problems first," he said.

White said engineering plans may include the use of solar energy for part of the heating requirements.

"We use a vast amount of electrical power," he said, noting that the metals operation is pollution-free since it does not include smelting processes.

"We buy large quantities of metals of all kinds and process them to meet the specifications of customers for manufacturing various metal products," White said.

'Diploma mills' in Missouri

The Better Business Bureau Serving Eastern Missouri and Southern Illinois has noted a number of new universities and educational institutions cropping up in Missouri. The bureau is concerned that Missouri is a prime target for diploma mills and all of the consumer problems that develop as a result, President James C. Schmitt advised the Press-Record yesterday.

Dr. Robert W. Jacob, assistant commissioner for academic programs of the Missouri Department of Higher Education, has told the BBB that Missouri needs legislation for trade and vocatfonal schools as well as universities.

Bureau files reflect numerous problems which have plagued students in the past, such as school closings, lack of academic quality and false or misleading advertising, Schmitt said. He added:

"Experience shows that if a school goes out of business there is no financial provision made to see that students are properly placed in another school to finish their course work.

"Frequently, transcripts are destroyed if a school becomes defunct.

"Another prevalent problem is lack of accreditation. While many reputable schools are accredited, it is not mandatory.

"It is the consumer's responsibility to find out whether a school is accredited and if it is recognized by the Missouri Department of Higher Education or the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

"The bureau is concerned when schools advertise that there are jobs available in specific fields when, in fact, the ad is merely designed to attract students. Schools should be required to substatiate any promises of job placement.

"Students should check with potential employers to be certain the courses they are considering are germane for future employment.

"Bureau files reflect particular problems with truck driving and civil service courses, etc., or where a license may be required.

"The bureau warns that exposing schools is difficult when the complaints are not made until it is too late. Often, students are afraid of reprisal or are unaware of the serious nature of the problem," he concluded.

Park Board ok's budget, reviews swim pool plan

Adoption of a $707,965 1977-78 tentative budget by the Granite City Park Board last night, was approved and the board reviewed possible construction of a new swimming facility at Wilson Park.

The commissioners are considering total replacement of existing pool facilities, due to an increase in state minimum standards and continued deterioration of the Wilson Park pool.

Noting that an Illinois Department of Public Health inspection revealed the pool's filtering system is operating below a state minimum standard of recirculating 275,000 gallons of water every six hours, Supt. Harold Brown also pointed out that the 37-year-old facility has cost the district more than $100,000 the past three years in replacing obsolete cast iron underground pipes.

Brown told the board last night that a recent study of the pool's water readings revealed that during a three-day period the pool lost more than 51,000 gallons of water due to a deteriorated system.

"I don't want Granite City to be without a pool next summer," said Commissioner John "Jeff" Worthen.

"If we don't initiate a plan now to obtain finances for construction of a new facility, that is what will happen," he said.

The board reached full agreement that long-range plans for development of Wilson Park, West Granite Park and Worthen Park should be reviewed with priorities placed on the needs of park district residents.

Commissioner George Sykes suggested setting aside minor projects and "create an overall, inexpensive and attractive package to be presented to the public."

"The people of Granite City have never turned down a bond issue proposal from either the city or park district," Commissioner Barry Loman reminded the board.

"But," he continued, "we just can't force something on the public which could possibly increase their taxes without first obtaining public support."

Bus crash hurts 20

With many Quad-Cityans aboard, a Bi-State bus collided at 7:15 a.m. Tuesday with a small food truck at North Ninth and Clinton Streets, St. Louis, striking five parked cars before hitting two two-story brick homes at 2118 and 2116 Ninth. Twenty injuries were reported.

The bus had left 30th and State Streets here and crossed McKinley Bridge and was southbound on Ninth. The canteen-type truck was turning from Clinton to go south on Ninth.

Troy Johnson, 27, of 2118 Ninth, awakened and found "the bus in my front room and people on the bus looking at me, screaming and running toward the back door of the bus." The driver, R. C. Roberts, had as his destination 12th and Delmar, St. Louis.

Roberts was treated for leg and back injuries at the St. Louis City Hospital. Also treated there were Richard Walsh, driver of the food truck, a head bruise, and his son, Albert, minor injuries.

Mrs. Shelly Kahn, 22, of 2903 Harding Blvd., was admitted Tuesday to St. Elizabeth Hospital with a back injury that was found to include a fracture.

Treated Tuesday at the St. Louis City Hospital for a knee injury, Miss Karen Poole, 30, of 41 ParkTowne Lane, was admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital yesterday for tests. She had reported stomach and leg pains after the bus crash.

Mrs. Louise Payne, 36, of 2202 Missouri Ave., was treated in St. Louis on Tuesday for right foot and ankle cuts and neck cuts and was x-rayed Wednesday at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Treated and released here were Leo Schuck, 39, of 1619 (rear) Delmar Ave., right leg and left knee abrasions; John Dawson, 35, of 6 Cambridge, puncture injury to the right elbow; and Mrs. Tillie McMurtry, 806 Washington Ave., Madison, right foot and knee pains and right ankle sprain.

Other bus passengers taken to the City Hospital were Dolores Revelle, Ida Doolin, Martha LaRose, Dolores Ayers, Patsy Taylor, Berjouhi Habeishian, deborah Davis, Linda Ignatz, Sue and Ruth Ray, Maxine Vaughn, Margie Armsmeyer and Doris Seibold.

Passengers escaping apparent injury included Elmer Dehn.

News notes

The House Ways and Means Committee voted 13-12 Tuesday to give a tax benefit of up to $400 to persons who insulate their homes. Small, fuel-efficient autos won't get a rebate, it was decided. A House Commerce subcommittee approved $900 million to help schools and hospitals install energy-saving insulation.

The Illinois Supreme Court has disagreed with a Third Circuit ruling and ordered a change of venue out of Madison County for 32 personal injury suits against the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. There are no B & O offices here and the injuries occurred elsewhere, it was noted. Many of the suits are expected to be tried in St. Clair County.

County committee of Health Systems Agency will meet

The first meeting of the Madison County Local Impact Committee of the Greater St. Louis Health Systems Agency will be held Monday, June 13, at 7 p.m. in the King Room of the Religious Center of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Local impact committees were formed on a county level at a meeting held May 14 at Washington University in St. Louis.

Purpose of the committees is to provide an opportunity for on-going grassroots involvement in the health planning and development activitie. of the agency, which serves a region of eight counties plus the City of St. Louis.

The other Illinois counties served in addition to Madison are St. Clair, Monroe and Clinton.

Dr. David Roberson, a dentist practicing in Wood River, and a member of the board of directors of the Health Systems Agency, has been named temporary chairman of the Madison County Local Impact Committee.

The first meeting will address directions for future involvement in health planning and development. There also will be a slide presentation on the National Health Planning and Resource Development Act of 1974, which created health systems agencies.

The meeting is open to members of the Health Systems Agency's General Assembly and also to persons interested in learning more about the assembly.

Membership in the General Assembly is open to any resident of the region over 18 years of age.

Each year, the group elects from among its members the board of directors of the agency, and also serves as a source of input on health needs of the area and for membership on the various agency standing committees.

Madison County currently has nine members on the 60-member Board of Directors.

They are Dr. Roberson, David Ault, Ph.D., Ted Eilerman, Patricia Forni, Ph.D., Sally Frierdich, Martha Gauen, James Heil, Eugene Hudson and the Rev. L. C. Suggs.

The Greater St. Louis Health Systems Agency was designated in April 1976 as the official health planning and development agency for the St. Louis metropolitan region. There are about 200 such agencies around the country, all authorized by the 1974 Act.

The agency's purpose is to improve the health of the area served by developing an areawide plan for health care based on needs voiced by the area citizens and information on their current health status and available health resources.

The first overall Health Systems Plan for the St. Louis area will be finished about October of this year and will be amended each year with an Annual Plan of Implementation.

For further information about next week's meeting, Quad-Cityans may contact William Miller of SIUE at 344-1579, or Virginia Lawton of the Health Systems Agency at 314-241-5810.

Oil spill penalties planned

The Department of Transportation, working with the Department of Justice, anticipates the collection of more than $1 million in outstanding civil penalties assessed under federal water pollution laws as a result of an April 25 U.S. Supreme Court decision.

In the case of U.S. vs Le Beouf Bros. Towing Company, the court declined to review the decision of the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals, which held that imposition of the penalties was not barred by a requirement that polluters themselves report oil spills or face criminal sanctions.

Many violators have been withholding payment of the assessed penalties, relying upon a lower court decision in the same case to the effect that the penalties were criminal in nature, making persons who reported the spills immune from any penalty.

The Coast Guard says it is hopeful that payments will be made voluntarily for the outstanding penalties and that further judicial action will not be required.

Money collected will be deposited in the Federal Water Pollution Control Act revolving fund, which is utilized to clean up pollution from oil spills.

GC School Board schedules contract talks with unions

By DONNA HARTWICK
Press-Record Staff Writer

The Granite City Board of Education agreed Tuesday night to a schedule of negotiations with Teachers Local 743, Building Services Employes Local 98, craft unions and the School District 9 Secretaries Association, a newly-formed union, in preparation for the opening of schools for the 1977-78 year.

Harold Hillmer, employe relations administrator, met Wednesday afternoon with the newly-organized secretaries group at the board office, and has meetings scheduled at 7:30 p.m. June 20 with the Teachers local.

He also met at 10 a.m. today with the craft union group and will meet at 3 p.m. today with Local 98, it was announced at the board meeting Tuesday night.

School District 9 Secretaries Association has filed a grievance with the Board of Education as the board had recessed negotiations until the bargaining unit election set for June 22.

The resignation of Dennis Kunnemann as campus monitor at Granite City High School North was accepted with regrets and a leave of absence was granted to Mrs. Lynda Laurent, kindergarten teacher at Johnson School, effective for the 1977-78 year. Michael R. Hankes was hired as a drafting teacher at South High School effective Aug. 25, 1977.

In other board action the members voted to reinstate one pre-school teacher and one six-hour aide in the Title One program, at the request of Ruth Lahr, Title One director. She said the Title One application for 1977-78 is due June 15 and is being prepared at the present time.

Mrs. Lahr advised the board the estimated cost of the project being proposed is approximately $346,050 and the district's estimated entitlement for the coming year is $340,550.

Adequate carryover funds are available to insure that all costs connected with the project will be paid from federal funds.

The additional funds referred to were received due to the increase of eligible children by 112, based on an appeal of a reduction in entitlement for the current year (representing an increase of $26,000).

An additional source of funds is a $15 per child increase in the per-pupil allocation for fiscal year 1978. This will result in increased funding for the next year in the amount of $21,000.

Also additional funds at the state level on a per-pupil basis to districts which sustained reduced entitlements during the current year. This one-time payment does increase the carryover for next year's project by $12,000, Mrs. Lahr added.

The application provides basically for an extension to the major parts of the present program, including the remedial reading program and pre-school classes.

Board members agreed to continue the position of department chairman for Junior High Industrial Arts, approved on a trial basis for the 1976-77 year.

Tom Holloway was assigned to the position and will continue with duties involved in the program on a regular basis until it is no longer needed or is financially impractical.

Continuation of the health occupations program-teacher-aide service for nurse aide students training at St. Elizabeth Hospital, also was approved by the board.

A contract change with Joseph's School of Hair Fashions and Granite City School of Beauty Culture, amounting to an increased tuition of $50 per student over the five semesters of the program, was given board approval.

Students will purchase a hand dryer and hand hair-setting iron of their own, not to exceed a total cost of $30, it was noted.

A member of the administrative staff will attend a court hearing on the rezoning of property near Frohardt School for a fast food establishment, when a final date for the hearing is set.

Board members voted to change the June 21 meeting to June 28 and the July 5 meeting to July 19, necessitating only one meeting in July, unless an emergency would arise.

PARRY PERDUE
Spelling Finalist

St. Joseph pupil places in 'bee'

Parry Perdue, 13, a pupil at St. Joseph Parochial School, attained 11th place out of 58 semi-finalists in the annual spelling bee sponsored by a St. Louis newspaper.

Twenty-six of the semi-finalists were from schools in outstate Illinois and Missouri, and 32 represented schools in the two-state metropolitan area.

Parry, the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Perdue Sr., 2113 Grand Ave., took honors in the quarter finals to reach the semi-final match.

Art for the handicapped

Art for the Handicapped, a workshop dealing with the specific needs of the handicapped child, will be taught June 13 through 17 at SIUE. Instructor for this course on treating the handicapped child as unhandicapped artist is Margaret Violette, associate professor of art and design.

Several classifications of special children, such as mentally retarded, orthopedically handicapped and emotionally disturbed, will be explored. Typical characteristics will be identified in order to relate their special needs to art programming.

Guests with expertise in working with the arts and handicapped will serve as resources for the workshop participants. These include a research team from Michigan State University dealing with art experiences for the blind and multiple handicapped, and experts on art for the severely retarded from the Mamie O. Stookey School for Retarded Children.

Goal of the workshop is for participants to have gained specific ideas and techniques in art. They will also develop a curriculum model for further art programs.

Four hours of either undergraduate or graduate credit can be received for the course. It will be held in Room 3201 of Building III from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and students can register on the first day of class.

Park registration at Venice Saturday

Another registration in the Venice park Paragram will be held Saturday from 10 a.m. to 12 noon in the Venice Recreation Center.

The program starts Monday from 9 to 4 p.m. The program will run for eight weeks until Aug. 5.

No child will be registered into the program unless he is accompanied by a parent.

Approximately 90 children have registered to date.

The park district is sponsoring a number of activities this summer in the program. A hot lunch also is provided for those enrolled in the program for the whole day

3 bus routes to Six Flags

Bi-State weekend express bus service to Six Flags Over Mid-America has been expanded to three separate lines this year, with new north and south routes supplementing a slightly revised central route, Executive Director Robert J. Baer has announced.

All three lines are being operated Saturdays, Sundays and holidays, concluding on Labor Day, Sept. 5. Weekday service to Six Flags from the Crestwood area will be provided by an extension of the Eureka-Crestwood Express starting June 15 and also continuing through Labor Day.

The central express route begins at 3rd and Washington and goes to Six Flags via Olive-Lindell, Kingshighway, Interstate 44, Elm, Highway 366 and again on I-44 to the park.

The south route originates at Broadway and Montana and goes on Broadway, Meramec, Grand, Lough Borough, Morganford, Union Road, Reavis Barracks, Lindbergh, Highway 366 and I-44.

Starting at Broadway and E. Taylor, the new north route operates to the amusement park by way of E. Taylor, W. Florissant, Kingshighway, I-70, Cypress, St. Charles Rock Road, I-270, Manchester, Highway 109 and the North Service Road of I-44 in Eureka, entering the park on Allenton Road.

On all three express lines, westbound trips run twice each morning and once in the afternoon, while returning buses leave Six Flags at 3, 4:30, 7 and 9:40 p.m.

One-way cash fares for adults range from 75 cents to a maximum of $1.35, depending on distance traveled. Transfers are accepted on outbound trips and issued on inbound trips, and weekly passes are honored at a reduced charge.

There are reduced fares for children under 13 years of age, and for senior citizens and handicapped persons possessing Bi-State identification cards.

Legislative action topic at conference

Action on legislation of concern to women—such as the Displaced Homemakers Bill, HB 1822—will be the focus of 16 workshops and speeches by Bella Abzug, Senator Charles Percy and others at "Illinois Women '77: Call For Action," the Illinois International Women's Year conference, to be held at Illinois State University, Normal, tomorrow through Sunday.

Bella Abzug, presiding officer, National Commission on the Observance of International Women's Year and a former congresswoman, will give the keynote address, "Women on the Move: Strategies for Equality," Saturday at 9:15 a.m. Sen. Percy's talk, at 9 a.m. Sunday, will be titled, "Women of the 70's."

Conference workshops, to be held on Saturday, have been designed to help women achieve equality by developing strategies for the enforcement of existing legislation and by adopting resolutions for new legislation.

Workshops will deal with the legal status of homemakers, equal employment opportunities, finance and credit, discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation, crisis in child care, media and communications, female offenders, focus on aging, racial and ethnic minorities, sex discrimination in education, rape, woman abuse, a new look at health care, women and politics, the Equal Rights Amendment and women as a new force for world change.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Nollman, 1010 Forest Hill Drive, Belleville, have chosen the name, Amy Elizabeth, for their daughter, born Monday at Belleville Memorial Hospital.

The mother is the former Miss Laura McCommis of Granite City, who taught instrumental music the past year at Coolidge Junior High School. The father teaches at Belleville High School West.

Guild honors Golden Agers

The Afternoon Guild of St. John United Church of Christ heard an unusual book review on "Fox Fire" presented at the monthly meeting of the group by Mrs. Ellen Ehlert and also accorded special honors to the Golden Age Ladies and acknowledged birthday members.

Under the direction of Mrs. Georgia Engelke, social chairman, the tables were decorated with arrangements of golden carnations. Each honoree received a single gold carnation and a gold and white centerpiece was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital and presented to Mrs. Esther Werner, who was unable to attend.

Those honored were Kathryn Roman, Clara Harbig, Mayme Shaper, Clara Redmon, Ann Schwartz, Talka Becker, Emma Branding, Grace Branding, Amanda Deutschman, Sophia Young, Bessie Beckman, Ann Kunnemann, Ida Herferd and honorary member, Mrs. Hilda Schaab, mother of Mrs. Engelke.

Another table was set up and decorated in keeping with a birthday theme for Mrs. Ivy Brandes and Mrs. Helen Love.

Twenty members met at the church at 10 a.m. to sew 52 pads for the Hitz Home in Alhambra, followed by a noon salad luncheon served to 44 members and four guests.

Guests included Hilda Landwehemeier, Ruth Jansen, Ida Carius and Janet Relleke.

The 1 p.m. business meeting was opened by Mrs. Ehlert, general chairman, with the Rev. Dr. Paul Surbey offering the opening prayer.

Devotions related to "Our Christian Heritage" and was presented by Mrs. Ehlert. She also displayed pictures, painted by her daughter, Nancy, to illustrate her review of the book. Mrs. Ehlert explained Fox Fire is a plant that grows on logs and glows in the dark. In conjunction with the plant from earlier days, Mrs. Ehlert spoke on how our ancesters had to work and live.

Mrs. Katherine Knipping gave a report on those who are sick and said she sent greeting cards to all named.

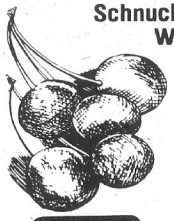

Plans were completed to hold work parties, for the fall festival, on the third Monday evening of the month and again for an all day session on the third Thursday of the month. Sessions will be held at the church, it was noted.

The chairman requested all women of the church bring dish towels and dish cloths to the church for use in the church kitchen.

The group adjourned with the collection of the Least Coin and Lord's Prayer.

Ephesians 4:1 "I . . . beseech you that you walk worthy of the vocation wherewith ye are called."

To the believer in Christ there is not a doubt that we have the calling of God in our lives. The apostle Paul speaks of a vocation, that is, a profession, a total way of life. It is true that we are bought with a price and we are not our own. Our lives must glorify God since we live for Him.

Therefore we must double our efforts to walk worthy of His calling. For most of us it constitutes no more than doing the right thing all of the time. Be honest, helpful, concerned, where others are involved.

Simply to unto others as you would have them do unto you.

Do it. Today.

Serve others, Shaw advises

President Kenneth A. Shaw of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, who received an honorary doctor of humane letters degree this week at Towson State University, Baltimore, urged the members of Towson's graduating class to "go forth with a commitment to the service of others and to making this world a better place."

The honorary degree was bestowed on Dr. Shaw by Dr. James L. Fisher, president of Towson State, who said the award was "in appreciation for, and recognition of, Dr. Shaw's outstanding academic leadership, the many substantive changes, and the institutional self-renewal and pride he brought about in his years at Towson State University."

Dr. Shaw served as vice-president and dean at Towson State for more than seven years before coming to SIUE as president in January of this year.

In accepting the honorary degree, Dr. Shaw expressed his appreciation to his former colleagues and said to the graduates:

"In fulfilling a commitment of service to others and to making the world a better place, you will soon see the value of remembering your university, remembering your roots, and remembering to use the talents the university has shaped so well in a constructive way."

He said he had already received his reward for his efforts at Towson, prior to receiving the honorary degree. "The chance to work with an outstanding student body, faculty and administration towards a noble goal — making Towson State University a model for other institutions of its character to follow — is a significant reward in itself."

Dr. Shaw also urged his former colleagues "to protect and foster the beautiful thing you have built. To do that, of course, you will have to keep building." He offered several suggestions:

1. "Keep letting your leaders lead. Criticize carefully and challenge enthusiastically, but give your leadership — administrative, faculty and student — your support.

2. "Continue the evolving tradition of shared governance — a collegiality where everyone in the academic community senses an honest sharing of responsibility for the university's drives towards excellence.

"On this policy, we find the grounds for the fertile commitment all members of the university community must be willing to make.

3. "Continue to provide for change in the institutional structure.

"The focus must always be on what is best in the long run. Continue to look at evaluation as something demanded both before and after the fact.

4. "Remain aware of what it is you are about. Pursue your basic purposes with all the energy and devotion to excellence that you can muster. One of the greatest strengths has been your consensus as to mission — which in the main is to serve your students."

While Dr. Shaw was vice-president and dean at Towson State, he participated widely in activities and organizations in higher education.

He served as a member of several regional and national accrediting teams and as chairman for the American Association for Higher Education Mid-Atlantic Regional Conference. He also was a member of the Association of American Colleges Committee to consider the evaluation of teaching.

He served as an adjunct professor for the Union for Experimentation in Higher Education Graduate School at Towson State and lectured frequently to graduate classes in higher education in the Baltimore area.

A native of Granite City reared in Edwardsville, Dr. Shaw completed his doctor of philosophy degree with specializations in psychology, counseling and sociology at Purdue University.

He received his bachelor of science degree at Illinois State University and a master's of education in guidance and counselling at the University of Illinois.

Rotary members upset over new telephone rates

Members of the Madison-Venice Rotary Club voted at their Wednesday noon meeting in the Madison Recreation Center, Seventh and Lee Streets, to ask for a joint meeting with the Granite City Rotary Club and telephone representatives.

Concern was expressed over a recent rate increase on burglar alarm systems from business places to the police departments.

The cost increased from $2 a month to $9.20 a month, a 350 per cent increase.

M-V Rotarians and some visitors from the GC Rotary thought that a meeting together with officials of Illinois Bell might do some good.

The Rotarians also felt that the merchants may have to ban together, hire an attorney, and fight the increase which was felt to be excessive.

Rotarian Wayne Scannel, president of the newly-organized Madison Business Association (MBA), explained to the Rotarians the functioning of the new group.

The club voted to have an old-fashioned "Kool-Ade" and Lemonade stand during the MBA "Alpine Days" scheduled in Madison Friday and Saturday, July 15 and 16. Rotarian Rev. Walter Walters will be in charge.

Madison Mayor Mike Sasyk invited the Rotarians to look at the two finished Alpine-style business buildings on Madison Avenue, Tony and Joe's at Third Street and Madison Avenue and Sterling Television, Fifth Street and Madison Avenue. The mayor said that Bilich's Tavern is well underway with its Alpine remodeling and that the schedule calls for remodeling one business place each month.

Henry Gray, president-elect of the club, reminded the members of the installation on Thursday, June 30, at the Holiday Inn in Collinsville, and announced that Dr. George T. Wilkins Sr., past Rotary district governor, will be the installing officer.

Juveniles found leaving school

Notified at 8:30 p.m. Monday that a burglary was in progress at Webster School, responding officers found five juveniles leaving the annex building, ranging in age from 9 to 17 years old.

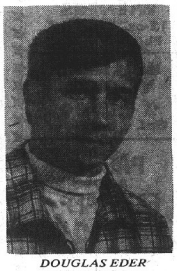

Nothing apparently was missing and the youngsters were taken to police headquarters and released to the custody of their parents. Entry probably was gained through a window or door with a defective locking mechanism, it was decided.

VALUABLE SUGGESTION. Andrew C. Miofsky (right) of Granite City, chief of Centralized Inventory Accounting Branch, U.S. Army Aviation Systems Command, receives a $50 suggestion award from Colonel Kenneth Lewi, director of the Directorate for Material Management. Miofsky earned the award by submitting a suggestion improving the Commodity Command System.

Awards for excellence in teaching

Ann Carey, professor of speech pathology and audiology at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, has been named the winner of the university's senior teaching excellence award.

The award is considered one of the highest honors the university can bestow on a faculty member for the quality of his or her instruction.

Douglas J. Eder, assistant professor of biological sciences, and Patricia A. Goehe, instructor of speech communication, will receive junior teaching excellence awards.

Presentation of the awards will be made at the university's commencement exercises Friday evening.

In addition to a plaque, Professor Carey will receive a cash award of $1,000. Eder and Mrs. Goehe will each receive a plaque and $500 in cash. The American Oil Company (Amoco) Foundation provides the funding for the teaching awards.

Each year, the SIUE student body is asked to recommend faculty members. Based on their nominations, the final selections are made by a committee of both faculty members and students.

GC police officers view training film

A new aspect of in-service training for Granite City police officers was introduced Tuesday to department personnel reporting at the start of the 1 p.m. to 9 p.m. watch (shift).

During roll call, which initiates each eight-hour watch, the officers viewed a short training film, Police Chief Ronald J. Veizer said.

Different films on a variety of subjects, generally pertaining to standard operating procedures, but covering various types of calls, will be shown on a bi-weekly basis to personnel assigned to each of the three watches, Chief Veizer explained.

The films will serve as a supplement to the ongoing training program of police personnel, and also provide a reviewing aspect for the veteran officers, the chief advised.

An informational exchange, together with the movie, will be confined to the 15-minute roll call period, according to Police Lieutenant Richard Woods, a watch commander.

Among the selection of training films to be screened in future weeks, are:

"Burglary in Progress"; "Robbery in Progress"; "Book Him"; "Custodial Arrest—Search and Seizure"; "Dangerous Stranger"; "Entrapment"; "Feeling Good"; "Humiliation and Anger"; and "Search Warrant."

Terryl Francis appointed to review board

Terryl Francis, a Granite City attorney, has been appointed to a two-year term as a member of the Madison County Board of Reviee.

Gilbert Heil, a County Board member of Alton, has been reappointed to a two-year term on the review board. Andrew Gitchoff of Granite City is chairman of the board.

The Board of Review has the final determination of property assessments fixed by local assessors and conducts hearings on complaints filed by taxpayers against their property valuations.

The appointment of Francis and reappointment of Heil were made by County Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer of Granite City and have been confirmed by the County Board.

Francis replaces Robert Coultas of Edwardsville whose term expired.

Michael Seibold on Dean's List

Michael Seibold, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Seibold, 3209 Fehling Road, has been named a member of the Dean's list at Eastern Illinois University for both the fall and spring semesters of the 1976-77 school year.

To be named a member of the Dean's list, a student must obtain a grade point average of 3.5 or better on a 4.0 scale.

Michael, who will be a senior in the fall, is majoring in psychology and is a member of Psi Chi, the National Psychological Honorary Society.

Sr. hot line—Caution on purchases at door

(Office of Lieutenant Governor Dave O'Neal)

Q. What are my protections under the law if I buy something from a door-to-door salesman?

A. Remember that if you buy something from such a person, chances are you will never see him again. Should the product need repairing or replacing, will you be able to get that done? If you pay by cash, you have no chance of getting that money back.

If the person tries to deceive you in any way to get you to buy his product, he is breaking a state law. If this happens to you, contact the Office of the Attorney General, Consumer Fraud and Protection Division.

There is an office in Springfield at 500 S. 2nd St., and another at 134 N. LaSalle in Chicago. Contact them as soon as you can. They will be happy to help you, and your prompt action could help other people.

Q. What happens if I sign a contract?

A. The best advice to remember when you sign a contract is this: You are bound by that contract and you must live up to your end of the bargain. Make sure that all blanks are filled in before signing and that you receive a copy.

There are certain exceptions to this rule, but make sure they apply to your situation before signing the contract.

If the salesperson comes to your home without your asking him to, and sells you something that costs more than $25, he must also tell you about your right under state law. This law says that under these circumstances, you have three business days to cancel the agreement.

For example: A saleslady comes to your home on Monday, and you sign a contract for a $75 vacuum cleaner, to be delivered in three weeks. She also tells you that you have three business days to cancel your end of the agreement.

This means that by Thursday night you must notify the company that you do not want the vacuum cleaner. The best way to notify them is by telegram or by certified mail, though this is not necessary.

If the person does not tell you of this right, you will know that he has committed a violation of the state law by not telling you of your legal right. You do not want to deal with such a company.

Q. What should I do if I suspect a salesperson is fraudulent?

A. If the person uses high-pressure tactics, you don't want to deal with him. Tell him you would like to think about his offer and ask him to come back the next day.

If he refuses to come back for a sale, you know he will never come back if you have problems with your product.

You could also ask the person to show you his driver license. Again, if he refuses, you do not want to deal with him. In either case, call the police immediately, and contact the attorney general's office.

Your prompt action could save other people from being gypped. By waiting even a day to report, the person could be hundreds of miles away in a different state.

If you would like copies of the attorney general's booklets, "20 Ways Not to Be Gypped" and "Your Protection Against Fraudulent Sales, Advertising, and Loans," send your name and address to: Aging, Box 60, Springfield, Ill. 62705.

Q. What is the way to get help with hughe medicalf bills?

A. To get medical assistance, one needs to make an application to the Department of Public Aid in your county.

For a single person who is over 65 or blind or disabled and who has less than $400 in assets when the medical bills exceed the difference between income and $178, they will find it useful to be in touch with the department.

Q. Social Security has just sent me the bad news that my supplemental security income will be cut. My income is already too small to pay for my needs. What can I do?

A. Your first step is to make sure your Social Security district office has an accurate picture of your financial circumstances.

The reduction of one-third is not applied if the individual can establish one of four circumstances as follows:

1. Ownership interest in the residence.

2. Rental liability for the residence.

3. That the person pays his full pro-rata share of household expenses.

4. That he does not receive support and maintenance from the household.

Write us at 160 N. LaSalle, Chicago 60601 or 3 West Old Town Mall, Springfield 62701 with questions or complaints about any government agency or program. This column will be covering the many questions senior citizens have on various subjects. The statewide toll-free phone number is 800-252-6565.

A new tax rate of 2.79 cents for street lighting is down from 3.02 cents and a new rate of 15.9 cents for police protection is down from last year's 17.02 cents. The new rate is based on a levy of $282,526. Last year the levy was the same.

VANDALS DAMAGE CAR

The auto of Bill Martin, 2833 Wayne Ave., was damaged by vandals about 12:20 a.m. Wednesday while the vehicle was parked at Eddie's Lounge, 2900 Nameoki Road. The car had been struck repeatedly by beer bottles, a side mirror was broken off, windows were scratched and the molding dented, the owner told police.

$700 BURGLARY

An electric typewriter valued at $500 and a digital readout calculator worth $200 were taken in a burglary at Smithway Motors, 1503 State St., reported Monday by George W. Irwin. Entry was gained through the drivers' lounge and by kicking open the office door.

Hospital

by the hospital, although city officials said they had been assured by bonding authorities that no element of risk to the city existed in the transaction.

Both Schuman and Douglas maintained that in spite of contentions by bonding authorities that there is no responsibility to the city, language in the trust indenture refers to procedure of municipal bankruptcy.

Schuman told the council:

"Tonight we are asked to vote on the issuance of $28,500,000 worth of revenue bonds. I feel if a representative is to vote on an issue — particularly one involving an amount of money that is over four times our budget of last year, he should be fairly informed of all contents and possible ramifications.

"Since the "Enabling Ordinance" was passed March 1, 1977, and we did not receive any indication of the hospital bonds coming up until a few days before the council meeting of last week, I do not feel any real effort was made to provide enough information to make a valid judgment in the interest of our people.

"Further, all we were provided was the official statement. If you will note on the first page of this ordinance we are voting on tonight, besides the official statement provided in the mail to us, there was a trust indenture, a mortgage and security agreement, and a purchase contract. If you did not receive a copy of these things, how can you be expected to understand, to intelligently vote or ask questions on this ordinance tonight.

"To me, the idea of Home Rule of Article VII of the Illinois Constitution of 1970 was to permit us more power to run our city. Also, according to Ordinance 2965, the issuance of revenue bonds was to pertain to the government and affairs of the municipality.

"The Enabling Ordinance 3386 passed by this council of March 1, 1977, also states that we can 'exercise any power and perform any function pertaining to its government and affairs.' I feel that the substance of this ordinance we are passing on tonight and the Enabling Act of March 1, 1977 is for the city to use its power to sell revenue bonds for the hospital so the hospital does not have to pay an exorbitant rate of mortgage interest.

"Now this appeared to be all right and good for the community, but is it a function pertaining to city government?

"Are we selling bonds for a private non-profit corporation? Are we getting into the financing business or proprietary affairs and straying away from governmental affairs? Well still, I thought, we'll do it for the hospital.

"Then Sunday I am provided with a "resolution" that is to be voted on tonight to go into the nursing home business? Now I asked: Why would anyone want to give the city a nursing home?

"I mean we were not born yesterday. The point is: Are we establishing a precedent of using our home rule unit power of raising money through issuance of bonds for proprietary interests rather than affairs that are definitely and genuinely governmental.

"I think it raises a legal implication and financial ramifications that mas cost our children an enormous amount of debt if we are not careful with our financial affairs today under home rule.

"Throughout the literature on the hospital bonds, we've read where the city will be in no way responsible for the debt incurred by the hospital, but why the clause on page 36 of the trust indenture mentioning a reorganization of the municipality under the Federal bankruptcy law.

"If there is no way we can incur an obligation for our tax payers, why have this type of language in the trust indenture? Are we approving a possible reorganization of the city under Federal bankruptcy laws?

"It appears we are an intermediary between the hospital and the trustee. Well I don't even know who the trustee is. Do you? I do not think they'll tell us. How much interest on the bonds, anyway?

"I really don't know, but I feel insecure in this, and will vote "no" on this, as well as, the nursing home resolution.

In addressing the council before the vote was taken, Konzen said he had met with both Schuman and Douglas and "when I left them I thought their questions had been answered." He said that he met with Douglas Tuesday and that he placed a call to Chapman and Cutler bonding authorities at Chicago.

Konzen said that Douglas talked with a representative of the firm and "I thought he was convinced that there can be no financial responsibility to the city."

Konzen said he was surprised to learn at the council meeting that Douglas and Schuman still were opposed to the bond proposal. Konzen said he had explained the benefit to the community that will be derived from hospital expansion—a factor that Konzen said will attract more physicians to this area and offer a greater field of health care for all the residents of the area.

"During the two years we have been working on this project, we have gone to all the sources and all the agencies necessary to the development of this improvement," Konzen said.

"We have been before the council on previous occasions and in all instances they have approved our program. No one has had this concern before. We are ready to go. There is no way the city can be responsible for one cent of these bonds.

"If this matter is not approved here tonight, the sale is off.

"We came here (to the city) because it seemed to be the way we should go. We could have gone elsewhere, but the council has approved this program right along."

In response to the questions raised by Schuman as to the interest rate of the bonds, Konzen said:

"We had hoped to get an interest rate of 6¾ per cent on these bonds, but we couldn't. We settled for 7 per cent, but if there is any more delay the rate more than likely would be 7¼ per cent.

"Do you know what the difference in one-quarter of one per cent would be on a bond issue of this size? It would be more than $1 million."

He said the Granite City Trust and Savings bank would serve as trustee. This, he said, "is a community project so far as the bank is concerned . . . it would do this without fee."

Douglas commented:

"Mr. Konzen has been working on this a long time. He can make a pretty speech about how there can be no responsibility to the city and why the project should be done.

"But there are questions in my mind and the minds of others. We are concerned about the city.

"We find various statements in the indenture and the mortgage agreement. We see talk of how the city could pay.

"I talked to Chapman and Cutler and when I pinned the man down, he could not give us a definite 'no' to the question of the city being responsible.

Konzen asked for the floor again and replied:

"I was on an extension phone with Mr. Douglas and Chapman and Cutler, and the man (at Chapman and Cutler) did not say that. As I recall his words in answer to the question about the city being responsible, he said 'I can't conceive of any way the city could be required to pay'."

Alderman Clyde Boyd of the Third Ward suggested that William Schooley, an attorney member of the firm of Callis, Schooley, Filcoff & Hartman, speak on the issue.

Schooley told the aldermen he had talked with Schuman about the bond issue, "but it wasn't until today that problems arose. Chapman and Cutler has put its word on the line. Mr. Konzen and Mr. Filcoff have put their word on the line. What more do you want, Mr. Douglas?"

Alderman Gerald Parmley of the Sixth Ward said home rule was intended as a means of putting people to work, and that "this hospital project will do just that . . . put people to work."

On a motion by Ordinance Committee Chairman Roy Poulos that the rules be suspended to permit placing the bond issue ordinance on final passage, "yes" votes were cast by Aldermen Sam Whitmer, Poulos, Boyd, Parmley, Everett Morlen, Mrs. Margaret Nonn, Paul Bowler, Emerald Dawes, Earl Baker and Warren Decatur.

Voting "no" were Douglas, Schuman and Bailey. The other council member, Glen Sprankle of the Fourth Ward, was absent dde to illness.

Identically the same vote was cast on a subsequent motion to approve the bond issue.

Many conditions can cause hair loss. No matter which one is causing your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead you are beyond help. So, if you still have hair on top of your head, and would like to stop hair loss and grow more hair . . . now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

GC Jr. Service plans fund raising event

The Granite City Junior Service Club will sponsor its first annual garage sale this Friday and Saturday, June 10-11, at 2804 Washington Ave., in the garage of one of their members, according to Mrs. Pam Reed, club president.

Mrs. Reed added, hours for the sale on Friday will be from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m., and on Saturday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

New items will be brought out both days with as many as 25 families participating in the fund raising project.

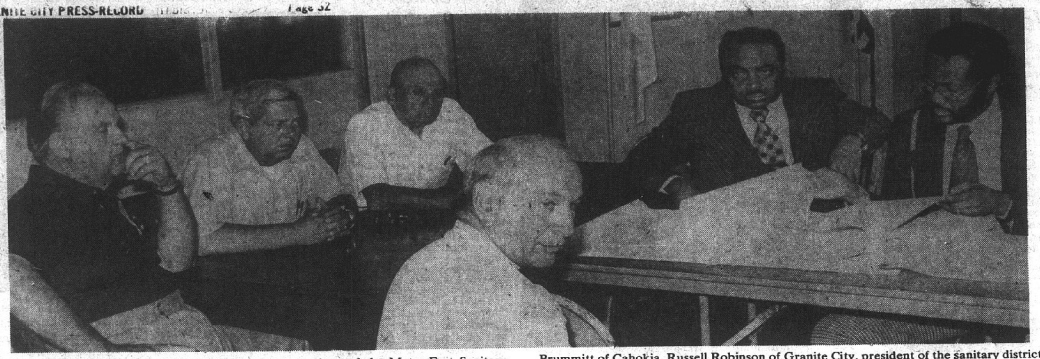

In addition to the garage sale, club members will also offer for sale, home baked goods, cool summer drinks and the club cookbook.

Other articles to be featured at the sale include side arm chairs, dishes, baby items and clothes, furniture, curtains, children toys and clothes, rocking horses, maternity clothes, lamps, radios, jewelry, butte knit suits, lawn chairs, sewing machine, all size adult clothing and numerous antiques.

All proceeds from the two-day program will be used for the club's charitable projects, especially to aid area school children.

MORE DRAINAGE PROBLEMS confront members of the Metro-East Sanitary District in a meeting in Granite City during the weekend. Nameoki Township officials sought permission to drain a township ponding area into the stormwater sewer line being built along the extension of Maryville Road. Board members disavowed responsibility in the matter, noting the roadway and its stormwater line are being built by the county with motor fuel tax funds administered by the state. From left around the table, Omar Brummitt of Cahokia, Russell Robinson of Granite City, president of the sanitary district board; John Erhardt of Washington Park, Robert Eastern of East St. Louis, all trustees, and Wendell A. Wheadon, newly-named district director. Board member Leonard Hylla of Madison was absent. In center foreground is Edward Juneau of the Sheppard, Morgan & Schwaab engineering firm which is handling engineering work for the Maryville Road construction. (Press-Record Photo)

Dr. Vasileff acting Dental School dean

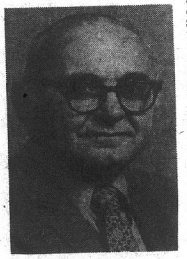

Appointment of Dr. Vasil Vasileff, former Quad-Cityan, as acting dean of the SIUE School of Dental Medicine, effective July 1, was announced Tuesday by Earl E. Lazerson, acting vice-president and provost of the university.

The appointment is subject to ratification by the SIU Board of Trustees.

Dr. Vasileff, an associate professor of prosthodontics and endodontics at the Dental School since 1972, is to assume the position being vacated by Dr. Stanley Hazen, who announced April 15 his plans to resign as dean effective July 1.

Lazerson said Dr. Hazen requested and will be granted reassignment as a professor of periodontology at the School of Dental Medicine.

In a memorandum to faculty, staff and students of the Dental School Lazerson said, "The qualities of mind and spirit possessed by Dr. Vasileff and recognized by his colleagues, co-workers and students will be of inestimable value during this transitional period. With your aid and cooperation, the solid achievements of the past decade made by the School of Dental Medicine can lead to an even brighter future."

DR. VASIL VASILEFF

All of the constituencies of the Dental School were involved in the nomination and selection process, and Dr. Vasileff was selected from four candidates who had indicated a willingness to serve in the acting position.

The vice-president said a search procedure will now go forward to find a permanent occupant for the position of dean.

Dr. Vasileff, who developed and directed the generalist clinic program at the new School of Dental Medicine in 1974 and 1975, has been a teacher of dental materials and endodontics, as well as prosthodontics, at the dental school, which admitted its first class in 1972.

The first graduating class dedicated the school yearbook to Dr. Vasileff in 1975 with a summary statement: "We, the newest members of the profession, describe Dr. Vasileff as a person whom we can emulate in his enthusiasm, spirit, knowledge and professional manner."

A Fellow of the American College of Dentists, Dr. Vasileff holds memberships in many professional and scientific societies and has been the recipient of numerous honors and election to honor societies, including the Academy of Oral Medicine Award and Omicron Kappa Upsilon national honor dental society.

Prior to joining the SIUE faculty in 1972, he engaged in the general practice of dentistry in Madison and Granite City for 22 years and was a member of the faculty of St. Louis University School of Dental Medicine during that time.

He has directed workshops and seminars on dental materials and has lectured to dental societies and various educational groups. He currently serves as chairman of the curriculum and library committees of the SIUE Dental School.

Dr. Vasileff holds a bachelor of arts degree in liberal arts from Washington University and a doctor of dental surgery degree from St. Louis University. He also has studied at the University of Illinois, Utah State University and SIUE.

A native of Madison, Dr. Vasileff lives with his wife, Esther, at 154 Barnett Drive, Edwardsville.

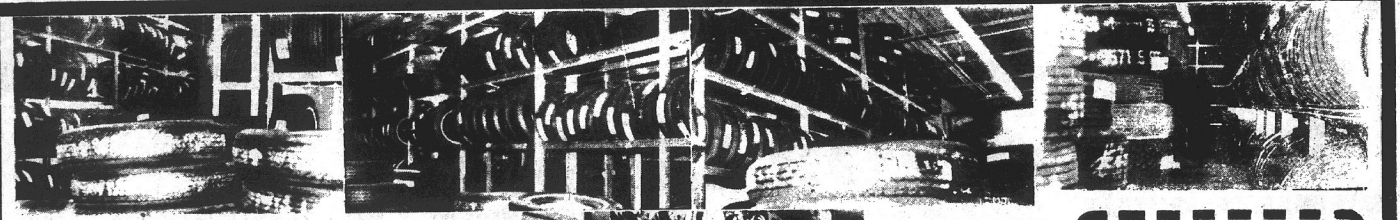

They are the parents of two sons: Michael, an assistant vice-president of Boatman's National Bank, St. Louis, and Thomas, a graduate of the St. Louis University School of Medicine who is beginning his residency in orthopedic surgery in Oklahoma City.

GRANITE CITY BOARD OF REALTORS

Present the following items for you

GO AHEAD, SELL YOUR OWN HOME, YOU RIVERBOAT GAMBLER, YOU

You might be lucky and save a buck or two.

A lot of folks have tried to sell their own homes and succeeded. A lot more have just tried.

Most people realize that selling your own home can be a costly, time-consuming even risky affair. And unless you're just naturally lucky, you need the help of a professional REALTOR. He can save you a lot of time and headaches. For a lot of good reasons.

If you're thinking about selling your own home, may you should consider some of them.

WHAT'S YOUR PRICE?

The first think a REALTOR can do for you is recommend a fair and reasonable asking price.

Do it yourself and you will probably ask too much or too little. Either way, you lose.

And don't be fooled by the belief you know pretty well what your home is worth. Market demand, seasonality of sales, location and many other variables often alter your home's value.

A skilled REALTOR knows all about these things. Most important, he knows people.

THAT BEAUTIFUL ART.

Okay, tiger. You're selling your own home. You know the needs and desires of your prospective buyers. And you know what to say, how to present your home to convince them. Right?

Wrong.

REALTORS are trained in the art of salesmanship. (And believe us, it is an art). His study of sales techniques has shown him how to get the indecisive buyer to make up his mind; how to close the sale. In fact, he's gone to school to find out.

After all, selling is what it's all about.

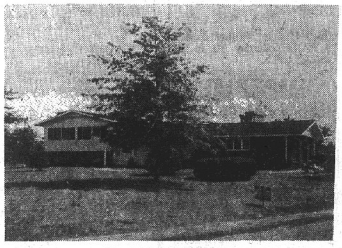

RED TAPE

Selling a house involves many details. Paperwork, title searches, finance arrangements. There are hundred little things to be done.

Tools worth $645 taken in burglary

A burglar entered the house of Jerry Robbins, 2901 Dale Ave., through an unlocked utility room door and stole an assortment of tools valued at $645, the owner reported Monday.

Missing items include a rachet breaker bar valued at $175, two impact wrenches worth $225, a six-piece pry bar set, $150, assorted wrenches, $75, chisel and punch set, $50, and a red tool box and contents, $70.

Be glad that you're not allergic to your spouse

(American Medical Association)

About half of us are allergic to something.

Pollen in the air can trigger hay fever, and certain foods can start hives.

Possible allergens are countless — house dust, animal fur, feathers, cosmetics, bleaches, medicines, foods, pollen.

Some people are even allergic to heat, or to cold, or to sunlight.

And there is the classic case of the woman who was allergic to her husband.

The American Medical Association believes that the most common result of allergy are four illnesses — hay fever is an inflammation of the eyes and nasal passages. Asthma is a disease of the bronchial tubes of the lungs.

Food allergies, a sensitivity to one or more foods, can affect the skin, the digestive tract or the respiratory system. Skin allergies cause itching, and sometimes a rash.

Reaction to an allergen varies with individuals. One person may be only slightly ill from a small trace of egg in salad dressing.

There still are many unknown factors about the reason someone suddenly becomes allergic to something.

Allergic diseases are not usually fatal, but they can cause untold discomfort and suffering.

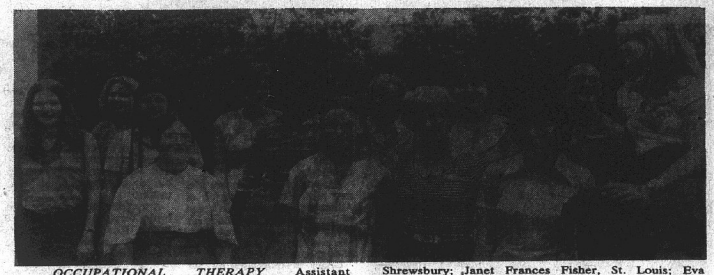

Although worry and stress might be a contributing factor, allergy is not an imaginary illness. It is very real to the sufferer.

Sometimes the allergen is known and can be avoided. Sometimes many tests by a physician are required to arrive at the true cause.

Medical care is necessary for relief of discomfort and for protection against future attacks.

Your doctor often can prescribe medications that will relieve the discomfort. And sometimes he can provide treatments that will desensitize you, so that the allergen no longer causes illness.

Stevenson expects space telescope to unveil origin of the solar system

By LESTER BELL
Press-Record
Washington Bureau

As chairman of the new Science, Technology and Space Subcommittee that his Senate reforms helped to create, Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson, D-Ill., has been handed a real mind-boggler by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Even NASA officials who might be expected to be a bit blase are awed by their proposal.

This is the real prospect that man may peer to the edge of the universe — perhaps to the very beginning of time — through a space telescope put into orbit by a space shuttle.

Stevenson may sometimes style himself a pragmatist, but the implications of the space telescope have really generated a supportive response from the chairman, subcommittee sources say.

The senator envisages the space telescope as a tool to understand the nature of the universe and to grasp the origin of the solar system.

"He believes it may answer things that have puzzled man forever," a subcommittee staff member said.

When the 200-inch telescope of Mount Palomar was aimed at the heavens, from its California observatory, it opened up the volume of the observable universe by a factor of 100 or so.

The space telescope is expected to increase the accessible universe by another factor of 400.

This, Dr. James C. Fletcher, NASA administrator, told a Congressional hearing shortly before he retired to private life, will extend the "eyes" of man "to the outer reaches of the universe and perhaps to the beginning of time."

He said it will "have enormous impact on all sciences," including medical research.

Dr. Noel W. Hinners, NASA associate administrator for space science, sees an opportunity of looking back almost "to time zero" — the so-called "big bang" of creation.

Hinners said earthbound telescopes are limited — by the light that can get through the atmosphere — to looking back in time to about three to five billion years for most objects now.

"With the space telescope, we think we will be able to see back close to 15 billion years in time; in other words, collect light that left its object that long ago," Hinners said.

"This is the time at which, it is hypothesized, that everything started.

"So we think we are going to be able to see back in time with the space telescope to just about when things started, to see what they were like at this fantastic time of the origin of the universe. It is a little mind-boggling in that sense."

With Congressional approval, NASA says it will be ready to begin the first of October with a start-up figure of $36 million.

The space telescope would be launched in 1983 and operated in orbit for one month at a cost of $450 million to $470 million.

It would be operational for a decade or longer at a probable cost of $15 million a year, according to NASA.

Referendum on beef research

By RON CORNWELL
Madison County
Agricultural Adviser

Beef producers and dairymen in Madison County are being alerted about the national beef referendum.

Madison County cattle producers and dairymen can register to vote in the referendum from now through Friday, June 17, at the Agricultural Stablization and Conservation Service office, located on the old Alton Road just off Rt. 143 at the north edge of Edwardsville. Those who have questions about registration for voting may call Lee Rogers at 656-7300.

Beef producers and dairymen in Madison County will help decide the fate of the beef research and information plan.

The plan is designed as a producer's self-help tool to strengthen beef markets here and abroad. It will also increase problem-solving research in the beef industry and improve communications throughout the cattle business.

The plan would be funded by a deduction of 30 cents per $100 on all cattle sales. Producers not wanting to participate in the checkoff could have their money refunded by filing a claim for refund.

Rogers says registered livestock producers are eligible to vote July 5 to July 15 at the ASC office.

In order for the referendum to pass, 50 per cent of registered voters must vote and two-thirds of these voters must vote in favor of it.

Madison County farmers will be interested in attending the Brownstown Agronomy field day on Friday, June 10.

The first wagon tour will start at 8:30 a.m. It takes approximately two hours to visit all the stops scheduled on the agronomy day tour.

The University of Illinois Brownstown Agronomy field is located near Brownstown, which is a few miles off I-70, east of Vandalia.

With chemicals being commonly used, it is important to recognize the signs of pesticide poisoning.

The general symptoms of pesticide poisoning are headache, dizziness, nausea, blurred vision and chest pain. Advance signs include sweating and vomiting.

Most farmers are poisoned by pesticides while mixing and loading chemicals. If you suspect that you have been poisoned by a pesticide, immediately get away from the source.

Promptly remove contaminated clothing and rinse off with plenty of water.

If a poison is swallowed, it is usually best to get rid of the swallowed poison fast. A glass of strong salt water or soapy water will generally induce vomiting.

Never induce vomiting if a person is unconscious or if he has swallowed a corrosive pesticide.

The best first-aid for swallowed corrosive or petroleum-based pesticides is to dilute the material as quickly as possible with milk or water.

After initial first-aid procedures are completed, go to the nearest poison control center or to a physician.

Poison control centers in Madison County include Alton Memorial Hospital, St. Elizabeth Hospital in Granite City and St. Joseph Hospital in Highland.

Tax audit? Don't panic

There's nothing like a notice of a tax audit to pale the face and whiten the knuckles of most of us. A letter in the mailbox or a phone call from an Internal Revenue Service examiner usually triggers a panic reaction — "Why me? They have their nerve singling me out of the millions."

Actually, the IRS responds, an audit is a businesslike, confidential meeting between taxpayers or their representatives and the IRS to determine the correct tax.

Nobody likes to be questioned, but notification of an audit is not a presumption of guilt or wrongdoing, a spokesman has pointed out.

"An audit is conducted only to clarify something on your tax return.

"Some returns are, however, selected for audit at random just to make sure the entire system is working the way it should be. In addition, all high-income returns are automatically screened for audit," the spokesman said.

"The computers at IRS service centers do not make life-and-death decisions about your tax returns.

"They are merely programmed to look for unusual deductions, credits, and other things that are out of proportion when compared to the returns of other taxpayers with similar income and circumstances.

"In fairness to all taxpayers, the IRS is obliged to take a closer look at any return that does not fall within usual patterns.

"For example, the return of a couple reporting adjusted gross income of $15,000 and claiming $7,500 in church contributions propably would be flagged for further scrutiny, since the ratio of income to contributions exceeds what would be considered normal.

"The church deduction cited might be perfectly legitimate. An audit might show the couple to be extremely religious, with complete receipts verifying the unusually high donation — in which case the matter would be quickly closed.

"Many computer-questioned returns never even reach the audit stage. An examiner looks over every return singled out by the computer to see if there is a valid reason for a discrepancy.

"For example, several heart operations could account for an unusually high medical deduction. Human judgment, not a computer, leads to all audit decisions.

"A key point to remember is that good records are a must for an audit. The IRS can't take your work on a deduction or other item claimed on your return.

"The law requires you to have proof, so be prepared with accurate records and receipts to substantiate everything.

"Your notice of audit will specify a date and time and even the name of an individual who may be contacted to answer questions you might have concerning the audit.

"If you have questions about anything, don't hesitate to contact the IRS. The better prepared you are for the audit, the easier the procedure is for everyone.

"And you can ask the IRS to change the date or time of your audit if there is a valid conflict with a previous commitment.

"Despite the best intentions of everyone, some taxpayers are unhappy with the outcome of their audit. So, there are appeals channels within the IRS and the courts.

"Taxpayers have the right to go directly to the courts if they so desire, but most don't. In fact, 98 per cent of all appeals are resolved to mutual satisfaction through the IRS appeals procedure.

"The first level of appeal within the IRS is the district level — the District Conference.

"At a District Conference, your audit is reviewed to determine if any errors were made at the original audit or even to remedy a personality conflict that may have occurred between the taxpayer and the auditor.

"If you're still unhappy with the results after your District Conference, your next step is the IRS Appellate Conference.

"An Appellate Conference is totally independent of the original audit and the District Conference, and is the highest level of appeal within the Internal Revenue Service. Here, your case will be given a fresh review in an effort to resolve the problem.

"At both District and Appellate Conference levels, IRS personnel are authorized to use what they call 'settlement authority' — at the district level the limit being cases involving $2,500 or less.

"Simply stated, if you owe the government more tax as a result of the audit, the IRS may agree to settle for less than the amount proposed, based on the chances of winning or losing the case in court.

"Keep in mind that an audit will usually be for past years — not the current year — which is why the IRS urges taxpayers to save all records and receipts for at least three years.

"If you're notified of an audit, don't panic. Get the facts and prepare for your audit by gathering the required documentation.

"Next, contact your nearest IRS office and ask for a copy of Publication 556, 'Audit of Returns, Appeals Rights, and Claims for Refund.' It's free and outlines the entire audit and appeals process."

SENATOR HONORED. State Senator Sam Vadalabene of Edwardsville, center, receives the Illinois Homeowners Commendation Award from the Illinois Savings and Loan League for his efforts over several years in the General Assembly on behalf of legislation favoring the home-buying public. Making the award were Adam A. Jahns (left), of Chicago, League president, and Thomas Dunck of Belleville, League past president. In the foreground is Joseph Prola of Springfield, chairman of the League's legislative conference at which the presentation was made. The plaque, bearing the League's symbol, also notes the senator's "outstanding legislative contribution in helping Illinois families obtain housing and establish homes, thus furthering the social and economic foundations of our state's citizenry."

Homeowner award to Sen. Vadalabene

State Senator Sam M. Vadalabene of Edwardsville has been presented with the Illinois Homeowners 1977 Commendation Award by the Illinois Savings and Loan League.

The award, made during the trade association's legislative conference in Springfield, recognized Sen. Vadalabene for his "outstanding legislative contribution in helping Illinois families obtain housing and establish homes, and thus in furthering the social and economic foundation of our state's citizenry."

Adam A. Jahns, president of the Illinois League, said Vadalabene was the prime mover in passage last fall of a floating usury ceiling on home loans.

In 1975, it was Vadalabene's bill which extended the 9½ per cent usury ceiling for 18 months, "the first real breakthrough from the one-year extendions which fell during the home building season," Jahns said.

"The yearly expiration of the usury law just before the summer home building season left great uncertainty in the building trades and among home buyers," Jahns said.

"Not only was the matter of timing of concern, but a limit which was too low would stifle home building in Illinois altogether."

The present law pegs the usury ceiling to a floating index of U.S. government bond rates and thus is more responsive to the national money market, it was asserted.

Jahns said, in making the presentation, that "the senator was aware—as have been the lenders, builders, and sellers for home construction in this state—that a usury ceiling depresses the economy, cuts off job opportunities, and stifles the most needed construction trades industry in our state.

"He took this message to the people, to the labor movement and, most of all, to his colleagues in the Senate, where he worked diligently for the least restrictive type of usury legislation acceptable to the General Assembly.

"The current usury law provides for the insurance of a ceiling desired by some persons, while avoiding the limits which it formerly placed on the vitality of home building and buying industry in our state."

Vadalabene was elected to the State Senate from the 56th legislative district in 1970, after serving two terms in the House. In the 79th General Assembly, the senator was recognized as "most effective senator."

Textbook schedule

Students attending Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville this summer may pick up their textbooks beginning June 17, according to James Oglesby, supervisor of Textbook Services.

The summer quarter schedule for textbook issues for on-campus courses will be: June 17 from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m.; June 18 from 8 a.m. until noon; June 21, 22 and 23 from 8 a.m. until 8:30 p.m.;

June 24 from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m.; June 25 from 8 a.m. until noon; and June 27, 28 and 29 from 8 a.m. until 8:30 p.m. After that date, Textbook Services will return to regularly scheduled hours, Oglesby said.

It is not too late for those who would like to enroll in summer classes at the university. Open registration (without an appointment) will be June 16 at Meridian Ballroom of the University Center, from 8:30 a.m. until 7 p.m. Summer classes will begin June 20 at 7:30 a.m.

LATE REGISTRATION FEE TO BE CHARGED

Effective with the summer quarter, 1977, a $10 late registration fee will be charged students at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville who do not pay tuition and fees by the payment deadline. The deadline date to pay fees has been established as the fifth day of classes.

The fee payment deadline date for the summer quarter is Friday, June 24. Anyone paying tuition and fees June 27 through Jully 5 will be assessed the late fee. No tuition and fees for summer quarter will be accepted after July 5, according to Robert M. Bruker, director of the Office of Admissions and Records.

Births, deaths, fetals show substantial rise

A total of 69 births occurred in the Quad-City area during May, an increase of 11 over the 58 births reported during the same month a year ago, according to a vital statistics report released by City Clerk Robert Stevens.

The report showed a total of 39 deaths and two fetal deaths last month, compared with 41 deaths and no fetals during May 1976.

May statistics brought to 445 the total number of births for the first five months of the year, an increase of 83 births, or 23 per cent, over the total of 362 deaths occurring during the same period last year.

A sharp increase in the number of fetals is shown this year, with a total of nine during the first five months. During the same period last year only one fetal was reported.

Deaths in the area also have increased substantially during the five-month period, showing a total of 247 at the end of May. This compares with 202 deaths at the same time a year ago.

The largest number of births in any single month this year was reported in April when 104 births occurred. There were 99 in March, 98 in January, 75 in February and 69 during May.

There was one fetal in January, one in February, four in March, one in April and the two reported last month.

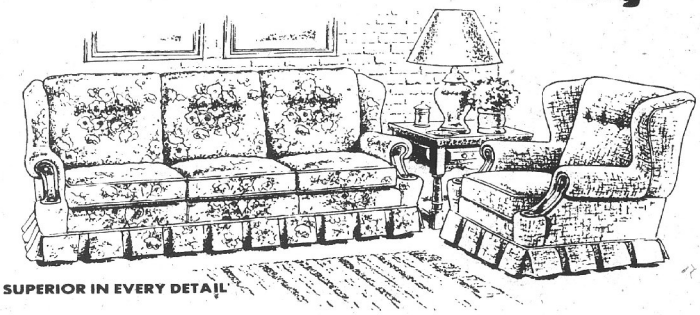

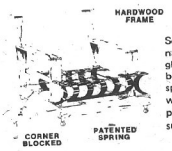

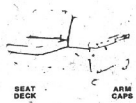

More deaths occurred in March than in any other month so far — a total of 76. There were 56 deaths in April, 38 in January, 38 in February and 39 last month.

Hazardous shipments handled safely in Quad-Cities so far

Because of the many railroad lines in the Quad-City area, there is considerable interest in Monday afternoon's evacuation necessitated by toxic nitric acid fumes leaking from a heavily-loaded rail tank car between Highland and St. Jacob.

Roadblocks were set up on U. S. Route 40 and a passenger train was halted until the escaping white mist could be halted after two hours and 40 minutes.

Thirteen persons were treated at St. Joseph's Hospital, Highland, for headaches, sore throats, burning eyes and nausea, and about 50 persons left their rural homes for the afternoon.

Assisting at the scene were Madison County sheriff deputies, Illinois state police, St. Jacob firemen, Madison County civil defense personnel and the Hulcher Emergency Railroad Service of Virden.

While the occurrence apparently caused no serious injuries, it calls attention to the potential impact of a mishap in a more heavily populated area like this community, which has had a remarkable safety record regarding hazardous shipments.

Continuing study and effort to further reduce such perils will be vital here, statewide and nationally.

Death penalty likely — but an incredible ruling on robberies

Illinoisans continue to win some and lose some in their efforts to limit the prevalence and viciousness of criminal conduct.

Overwhelming support has been voted this spring by legislators for restoration of a non-mandatory death penalty, which could apply to those 18 or older convicted of mass murder, killing of a prison guard or inmate, slaying of a policeman or fireman, contract murder, an intentional killing stemming from a hijacking, slaying of a witness in a criminal case, and a murder committed during rape, armed robbery, kidnapping, deviate sexual assault, arson, indecent liberties with a child or burglary.

But the Illinois Supreme Court last week "muddied the water" regarding prosecution for the serious crime of armed robbery. It ruled that intoxication by drugs or alcohol is a sufficient defense, opening the door for robbers to buy a bit of "anti-prosecution insurance" by getting "high" before a crime. The incredible decision ought to be reversed quickly.

Madisonian is acting dean of School of Dental Medicine

Congratulations are in order for Dr. Vasil Vasileff, native Madisonian who was chosen Tuesday as acting dean of the School of Dental Medicine at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

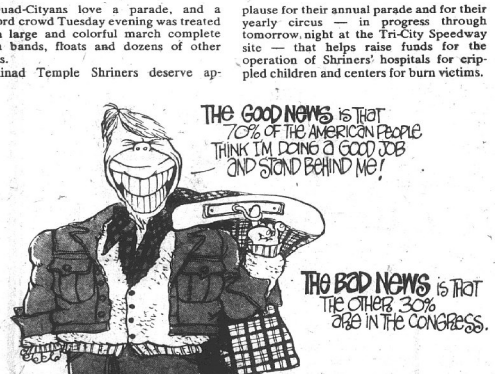

Dr. Vasileff, a dentist in Madison and Granite City for 22 years before joining the Dental School faculty, has been with the school since it accepted its first class in 1972.

A longtime faculty member at the St. Louis University Dental School before going to SIUE, he is regarded as an authority on prosthodontics and endodontics. The first graduating class in 1975 dedicated its yearbook to him as one "whom we can emulate in enthusiasm, spirit, knowledge and professional manner."

Musical and colorful Shrine parade again delights area

Quad-Cityans love a parade, and a record crowd Tuesday evening was treated to a large and colorful march complete with bands, floats and dozens of other units.

Ainad Temple Shriners deserve applause for their annual parade and for their yearly circus — in progress through tomorrow night at the Tri-City Speedway site — that helps raise funds for the operation of Shriners' hospitals for crippled children and centers for burn victims.

Camp meeting—intellectual and spiritual feast

By GLENDA CALVIN
Granite City
High School South
(An Illinois Student Historian of the Year)

Article in "Illinois History" — Because their homes were so isolated on the Illinois frontier, the pioneers eagerly accepted every opportunity for a group gathering.

Their social activities centered on weddings, funerals, cabin raisings and church camp meetings.

The annual community camp meeting proved to be a heaven-sent gift, not only spiritually but also socially.

These revivals, which were predominantly Methodist, were conducted by circuit riders who went from place to place preaching the Gospel.

Although most sermons were poor according to today's standards; they were literally an intellectual feast in pioneer days, giving many settlers their only opportunity for mental exercise.

The first recorded camp meeting in Illinois was held just south of Edwardsville in the summer of 1807. It was conducted by William McKendree, who had come from Ohio to Illinois with the specific purpose of spreading the Gospel.

Later, he became a noted bishop of the Methodist Church. McKendree College in Lebanon, Ill., is named for him.

The most noted Methodist circuit rider, however, was Peter Cartwright. An eloquent speaker, Cartwright converted hundreds at various revivals.

The camp meeting gained its name from the fact that people literally camped outside for the duration of the meeting.

The campsite was selected on the basis of available water and shade; once the area was cleared, it was dedicated through prayer.

The campers often traveled great distances to the meeting, carrying all their provisions in their canvas-covered wagons. The meeting usually lasted two weeks.

Each day of the revival had four principal services — one before breakfast; the second about ten in the morning; the next in mid-afternoon; and the fourth at night.

This last one was the chief service of the day. For this service, lanterns hanging on the trees provided the only light and made the forest a very effective setting.

The isolated sounds of wild animals and the powerful voice of the speaker often triggered many outbursts of emotion from the assembled congregation.

Many enthusiastic campers were seized with "the jerks," an involuntary motion. This was especially common at the revivals held by Cartwright, who told of having seen over five hundred people taken with the jerks at one time.

To get relief from this jerking, many would stand up and dance or try to run. This hysteria seemed most prevalent among the women.

This jerking, shouting, singing and praying usually lasted until the early hours of the morning. During the meeting, every member of the vast multitude supposedly became spiritually and mentally renewed.

All this excitement made the camp meetings the biggest event of the year.

Although the first camp meetings were primarily Methodist, they also became common among the Baptists and Presbyterians about 1855, and this type of religious gathering continued to be popular until the early 1890s.

The need for these religious revivals ended as the farm communities began building their own churches and holding more local social activities.

Medicine show—something for almost everyone

By SUSAN PETRUNICH

Article in "Illinois History" publication — Back at the turn of the century, quackery in medicine reached its height.

One of the best known producers of patent medicines was the Kickapoo Indian Medicine Company of New Haven, Conn., which sent caravans into central Illinois.

People in the small town of Mt. Olive in Macoupin County would welcome this medicine show about once a year.

The performers often traveled in a decorated wagon which served as an outdoor stage.

The children of Mt. Olive were always excited at the arrival of the medicine shows.

Since there was little entertainment in the town, the medicine show was a real treat.

Men in the show would hand out free candy and sell soda at the low price of two cents a bottle. This annual spectacle brought the people of Mt. Olive closer together.

No medicine show was complete unless it had a pitchman. His job was to give a sales pitch to persuade the audience to try the marvelous curative powers of a particular patent medicine.

The older folks of Mt. Olive enjoyed the ballyhoo and bought the merchandise.

In the 1880s, the Kickapoo Indian Medicine Company sold the famous Kickapoo Indian Sagwa, a "cure-all" medicine.

It was once said that it could cure rheumatism or any kind of disease caused by "impure blood."

This "wonder drug" had various barks, roots, leaves and herbs as its chief ingredients.

The original Sagwa was made from flowers of the lily family and stale beer.

There was one ingredient in nearly all patent medicines that really boosted the "curing process" along, and that was the alcohol content in each bottle.

Customers "felt better" after having a few doses of the brew.

Although the Indian Sagwa was the most popular product, there were others:

Kickapoo Indian Cough Cure, Kickapoo Indian Oil, Kickapoo Indian Salve ("made from Buffalo Tallow, combined with Healing Herbs and Barks") and, last but not least, Kickapoo Indian Worm Killer (for victims of tapeworm).

Many people could not afford a doctor even if one were available, so they bought these quack medicines.

The Kickapoo Indian Show provided entertainment as well as an opportunity to buy so-called remedies for various ailments. Many medicine shows traveled throughout Illinois during the nineteenth century.

Big agencies not necessarily better

To the Editor:

Governor Thompson's proposal to reorganize state government would decrease governmental efficiency rather than improve it.

The administration apparently believes that just because an agency is bigger, this automatically means that it will be better. That simply is not so.

Look at the Illinois Department of Public Aid, as an example. This is the largest bureaucratic agency we have in the state. It also happens to be the most criticized and poorest managed department we have.

The state government's performance could be improved by reviewing each department individually.

We reject the idea that existing departmental structures, while not perfect, necessarily need to be drastically changed.

We oppose:

1. Placing all collective bargaining activities under the Illinois Department of Labor. Collective bargaining activities should be under a free and independent Office of Collective Bargaining. The present office is now under the Labor Department, where it is nothing but a political arm of the governor—a situation totally adverse to fair collective bargaining.

2. Combining the administration of all public retirement systems under a single agency. This would dilute the effectiveness of the individual systems, and service to members would suffer.

Compares cost of ambulance service

To the Editor:

Attached is a bill for city ambulance service from our home to Christian Northeast Hospital. The call at 12:50 a.m. March 23 was handled by Ambulance 703.

I feel this bill is too high.

In November, the patient, Earl H. Lovejoy, was taken from Fairview Heights to Memorial, the same distance, by a private firm and it cost us $44.

Then he was taken from Memorial to DePaul in St. Louis with a nurse in attendance, and the cost was only $55.

We live and pay taxes in Granite City and this service cost us $76. This is a bit too much.

Officer should allow time to explain

To the Editor:

I am a very upset mother over the article that came out in Monday's paper about my daughter being arrested for trespassing on the Kroger parking lot, the only one out of 25 that did not leave the lot.

It wasn't that way at all. She explained it to me this way, and I believe her because she is a girl that has never been in any kind of trouble in any way and has always obeyed the laws.

She wasn't even in the group of 25 that was asked to leave. She parked there after they left, and did not see the "no trespassing" sign.

This is what happened. My daughter and a girl friend went to church Sunday night. After church was over, they drove to Jack in the Box, got some sandwiches and drinks and drove across the street onto the Kroger parking lot to eat them.

They saw some cars leaving but did not know they had been asked to leave by the police.

She and her girlfriend had just parked when this police officer came up. He asked my daughter for her driver's license and then asked her to follow him to the police station.

He did not give her a chance to explain and did not tell her what it was all about until they got to the police station. Then the officer told her she was under arrest for trespassing and she would have to appear in court on a certain date.

What burns me up is the way the police officer so rudely talked to her and did not give her a chance to tell him that she wasn't in the 25 asked to leave.

I know my daughter. She would have left if she had heard the officer tell them to leave. But, no, she was made to sound like a smart face and she is not that way at all.

I don't know why it is that young people who try to do right end up looking like criminals. There are still some good kids in the world, but there won't be if our law officers can't take the time to talk with them, hear their side of the story and have some understanding for them.

I went to see the no trespassing sign and it is so high up on a pole that it can't be seen in the dark. I guess that is why it was put up so high.

I am very unhappy with the Granite City police over this matter. Mothers, beware, Your daughter or son may be next.

MRS. WANDA DAVIDSON

Wants crackdown on alleged nuisance

To the Editor:

I would like to know what is wrong with the police department and city hall, especially the city attorney.

Why is it that one family can harass everyone on the block and then go to the city and get a summons on the people they are harassing?

They follow you when you go out and then pass you and slow down and hope you hit them; then they run right to the city and say you were driving in a reckless manner, used obscene language, disturbed their peace and tried to hit them.

The attorney gives you a summons then. But when other people go up there, and they have witnesses to prove what they did, he won't give you a summons on them.

Someone in authority should have all this stopped.

You can be in your own house and not even see them, but in a few days here comes a summons that you are a nuisance and disturbed their peace.

I think it's a shame that people are practically a prisoner in their own home.

They have the police out there three and four times a week, but the police tell you, well, we didn't see them do it. Then tell me why they run out there every time one of this family calls?

There's certainly something bad wrong, if no one can get anything done with this family. The mayor, street superintendent and police have been given reports time after time.

Why doesn't an inspector take a look at all the cars they have parked in front of everyone else's home, with no city stickers on them? They work on cars without having a license to do so.

Is it that you can get by with anything as long as you know someone in these departments?

See a necessity to have firearms

To the Editor:

In reading the Press-Record Forum the past couple of weeks, we find it ironic that people set themselves up as judge and jury in the case of a fatal shooting.

We think it is important for the man to get a fair and impartial trial.

Crime has gotten so out-of-hand in our neighborhood that sometimes a person finds it necessary to bear arms to protect what is his.

We, as neighbors, find he has always been a law-abiding citizen with a high moral standard, and also a good neighbor.

This incident would not have happened if a young man had not been where he didn't belong at 1 a.m.

What would have been the result if the shooting had not occurred?

Explains games that legislators play

To the Editor:

On Friday afternoon have you ever asked yourself what was accomplished during the week and have been unable to answer? Last week in Springfield was one of those weeks.

The Equal Rights Amendment was defeated again and workmen's compensation disrupted the House for a third time. Therefore, instead of writing on substance, perhaps a few words on trivia would be appropriate.

The most important aspect of a legislator's job is his voting record, but the games people play in voting are endless.

Until you sit on the House floor and observe this phenomenon, it might not even occur to you. It happens like this:

All legislators vote electronically from their desk. The green switch is a "yes" vote, red a "no" vote, and yellow means "present".

Names are listed alphabetically on a large board on both sides of the chamber and the votes are recorded next to the names.

At the top of the board, a running total of "yes", "no" and "present" votes changes constantly.

It takes 89 "yes" votes to pass a bill in the House. Therefore, not voting, a "no" vote or a "present" vote all mean the same thing. Their effect is identical.

Although this sounds trivial, it is important to understand. A "present" vote is just as harmful to a bill as a "no" vote.

By voting present, a legislator is voting against passage, because only an affirmative vote can help.

Legislators who claim a conflict of interest and then vote "present" are fooling no one. Their "present" vote is a vote against passage just as if they had voted "no".

Once the running total reaches 89, it doesn't matter how you vote because the legislation has reached the magic number. If you vote for it, the bill passes; if you vote against it, the bill passes. At this point, the games begin.

The "I will give you a vote if you need it" game is over, since the sponsor has 89 votes already.

If you are for the bill but have received 10 letters against it, you can vote "no" and please those 10 constituents while knowing that the bill has passed.

Likewise, if you are against the bill, but have received 10 letters for it, you can please 10 more people by voting "yes", with the knowledge that your "no" vote would not change the outcome.

Often legislators vote for a bill with knowledge that it probably won't pass. If the magic number of 89 approaches, they quickly switch their vote.

During the ERA debate (which needed 107 votes), two legislators promised the sponsor that they would be votes 106 and 107 but would refrain from voting until that time.

The ERA received only 101 votes and these representatives were therefore free to vote "no."

Earlier, I called these games trivia, but in a way they are not.

They are a part of politics that exists and that must be understood.

One cannot win without full knowledge of the game and the rules by which it is played.

Retirement arrangement restrictions

Persons considering setting up Individual Retirement Arrangements (IRA's) for their retirement security should weigh not only the tax advantages but also the limits and restrictions, Ira S. Loeb, district director for Central and Southern Illinois, said this week.

IRA's were established in 1974 to allow employes and self-employed persons not covered by retirement plans at work to save for their retirement years and gain some income tax benefits in the process.

In setting up an IRA, eligible workers can place up to 15 per cent of their annual income in their plan (Maximum $1,500) and postpone paying income taxes on the money as well as on the interest or other income it earns until they actually withdraw it, at age 59½ or older, or if the individual becomes disabled.

At this point, Loeb said, the taxpayer is apt to be in a lower tax bracket than during his or her earning years. He added:

"While IRA's offer significant tax benefits, an individual considering setting up a plan should be aware that contributions exceeding the annual maximum are taxed as ordinary income and are subject to a non-deductible six per cent excise tax each year.

"Another restriction in an IRA plan relates to withdrawals which are made before the individual reaches 59½ years of age or becomes disabled. These are also included in taxable income, and an additional 10 per cent penalty is imposed on the amount withdrawn.

"Distribution of funds in an IRA must begin by the time the owner reaches 70½ years of age.

"The withdrawal rate is up to the taxpayer, but generally must provide for full distribution of the money within the person's expected lifetime.

"An informative, free booklet, IRS Publication 590, contains full details on IRA's, including the tax treatment and the limitations, and is available from most IRS offices."

From left are Chet Simms, who served 48 years as a volunteer leader; George Hays, 22 years; John Matras, 15 years, and Joe Surwald, 25 years. During the reunion at Mitchell an attempt was made to figure the number of years service to the Boy Scout movement by those attending, but the idea was dropped as the total approached 2,000 years. SCOUTERS REUNION during the weekend at the Old Parish Hall in Mitchell attracted nearly 100 "ole timers," all volunteer leaders, past and present, in the local program of the Cahokia Mound Boy Scout Council. Plans are being made by the committee for the reunion to be an annual event. Members of the committee from left are Ray Gaudette Sr., G. Weekend competition for Oriental Bands

The 26th annual Oriental Band Jamboree, Ancient Arabic Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, will take place Friday, Saturday and Sunday at Stouffer's Riverfront Inn, St. Louis.

The jamboree is part of the Great Lakes Shrine Association program and is being hosted by Ainad Temple of East St. Louis. There are 22 temples in the association which covers the mid-west on the east side of the Mississippi River.

The big day will be Saturday, June 11, when the 10 bands entered in the competition will parade in downtown St. Louis.

The bands will be judged during the parade for marching appearance, musical ability and costumes.

The bands will step off at 10:30 a.m. and will finish at Stouffer's. They will then appear at 12:30 p.m. on the hotel stage for the final competition.

An awards dinner that night, with Bob Hardy of KMOX as master of ceremonies, will include the presentation of the trophies for the best bands in the competition.

Avery Schermer of Granite City, president of the Great Lakes Oriental Band Association, will head the group that will host the three-day event.

Michener TV series

Pulitzer Prize-winning author James A. Michener will host and guide a personal tour through many of the countries he's written about when the series "James Michener's World" premieres at 7 p.m. Tuesday, June 21, and at 10:30 a.m. and 8 p.m. Saturday, June 25, on Channel 9.

"Israel: A Search for Faith" is the first program in this series of four hour-long documentary specials scheduled to air within the next 12 months.

Of the many places that James Michener has visited and that have furnished background for his books, the land of Israel holds special fascination for him. "The Source," his novel about Israel, was published in 1965.

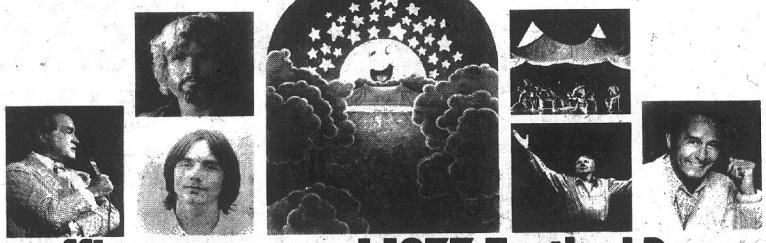

In "Israel: A Search for Faith," Michener will take the viewer on a personal odyssey through the history of the country, birthplace of the three great world religions — Judaism, Christianity and Islam.

The purpose of this quest: to explore the reasons why this arid, inhospitable, tiny place has, as Michener says, "borne witness to the best of man's aspirations, and the worst in man's warring nature."

Beginning in Jerusalem, "one square mile of prime real estate that means more to half the world's people than any other spot on earth," Michener crisscrosses the country — from Mount Sinai where Moses is believed to have received the Ten Commandments, to the shores of Galilee where Jesus preached, to the deserts where the followers of Allah battled the Crusaders — to paint an original portrait of the land and its varied occupants.

Future programs in the series will include visual essays on the subjects of some of his other books — "Hawaii," "Iberia" and "Tales of the South."

Eta Chapter names delegates

A discussion regarding final plans for the national convention to be held in Oklahoma City this month, was held at a monthly business meeting of Eta Chapter, Phi Tau Omega Sorority.

Miss Hilda Schroeder and Miss Kathryn Weddell will represent the local chapter, it was announced.

Members met last week at the Elks Lodge for the session with Miss Schroeder, president in charge.

Reports were given by Mrs. Shirley Morgan and Mrs. Georgiann Van Buskirk, secretary and treasurer, respectively, and on a "fun fund party" hosted by Mrs. Lorraine Butler, in her home.

During the party the president conducted a pledge ceremony for Alma Pasedag and presented her with a pledge pin.

The June social committee was appointed and includes Dorothy Costello, Millie Greathouse, Lois Hodge and Mary Hassler.

Prizes for the evening were won by Miss Dolores Sheridan and Mrs. Mary Evalyne Yencho. Also present were Mary Lou Richeson and Dorothy Brewster.

GRADUATE PROGRAMS WILL BE DISCUSSED

"Sorbonne-St. Louis" will be the title of an informal University Day Tuesday, June 14, in the St. Louis University quadrangle, Grand at West Pine. The program, from noon to 4 p.m., will feature several professors giving talks in a casual, Parisian-cafe setting.

The event has been designed to bring people to campus to give their ideas on what they would like to see in the graduate programs at St. Louis U. The program has been patterned after the origins of the French literary movements, which began with students and professors talking informally in sidewalk cafes, in order to facilitate a free exchange of ideas.

The Masquers will present the Broadway musical "George M!" today, Friday and Saturday in Granite City High School South, 3101 Madison Ave.

Curtain time is 8:15 p.m. for all performances.

George M. Cohan was a giant of the American musical theater and "George M!" is his story.

The audience will hear and see the songs that made Cohan a legend; "Mary," "Over There," "Give My Regards To Broadway," "You're A Grand Old Flag" and others.

Granite Cityans head the cast of the show with Mrs. Beverly Scroggins as Nellie Cohan, Jack French as Jerry Cohan, Margaret Pennell as Josie Cohan, Mary Ann Bright as Ethel Levy and Kathy French as Agnes Nolan.

Wiltz as the genius song and dance man, George M. Cohan, has directed and choreographed over 40 musical productions. He received his Master of Fine Arts degree at the University of Wisconsin in 1967. The following year he was accepted as the director of dance at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, where he recently directed and choreographed "Carnival" and "Anything Goes." He also appeared in the Masquer's production of "Caberet" as the emcee.

Jack French plays Jerry Cohan, father of George M. Cohan. French was president of Masquers for two years. Recently he was seen as Mr. Darling in "Peter Pan" and as Billy Boylan in "40 Carats."

His wife, Kathy French, is Agnes Nolan in "George M!" Agnes is second wife to George Cohan. Kathy has assisted Masquers as rehearsal pianist for "South Pacific" and "1776." She also appeared in "Little Mary Sunshine" earlier this season.

Mrs. Scroggins assumes the role of mother Nellie Cohan with extensive theatrical and musical experience. She is a speech teacher and technical director at Granite City High School South, where she also directs school plays and supervises the design and construction of stage scenery at both Granite City high schools.

Mrs. Scroggins has acted in summer stock theaters in Springfield, Ill. She also is choir director at Nameoki Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Scroggins has both directed and acted in many Masquer productions. Most recently, she directed "Fiddler On The Roof" and "Alice In Wonderland."

She played starring roles in "Kiss Me Kate," "South Pacific," "1776" and "40 Carats."

She attended Northwestern University and SIU, receiving a Bachelor of Fine Arts in Theater.

Debuting with the Masquers is Mrs. Mary Ann Bright as Ethel Levy, first wife of George M. Cohan. She is a member of the Business and Professional Womens Club. She also has been vocal director at Granite City High School South for the past four years. At the high school she has been in charge of vocal concerts. She has been director of the Park District "Music Under The Stars" summer chorus for the past three years. Currently she attends SIUE to complete her Master of Music degree.

Filling the role of dancing sister Josie Cohan is Mrs. Margaret Pennell. She appeared recently as Mrs. Adams in "40 Carats" and choreographed "Fiddler On The Roof," "Caberet" and "Little Mary Sunshine."

The Masquers is a not-for-profit community theater organization. For more information, Quad-Cityans may contact Mrs. Beverly Scroggins at 877-2228.

Tickets are available at the door at $3 for adults and $2 for students and senior citizens.

Freedom from constant care and repair. Because it's aluminum, sun and exposure can't crack it, warp it, split it! Cold, rain and wind can't weaken it or rot it. Weather is locked out, year around comfort locked in.

Protection against roof fire. Because it's aluminum, it will not ignite from flying sparks, falling embers or other outside sources of fire. Kaiser Aluminum Rustic Roof protects as it beautifies!
